Horse And Mule Clinics Are Planned

Fifty-nine counties in North Carolina are planning to hold horse and mule clinics this winter to condition work stock for essential work on the farm under war-time conditions, reports L. I. Case, Extension animal husbandman at State College. "It's good horse sense to treat horses and mules for worms and bots and have the necessary dental work done," says Case. "If you have noticed any loss of weight, unthriftiness or digestive troubles in your work stock lately, don't delay having them treated. These troubles are no doubt caused by internal parasites which often cause serious damage to both horses and colts," he added. Case points out that it costs more to feed a wormy animal and that the wormy animal will do much less work than one free of such parasites and in good health. He urges that neighboring farmers cooperate in bringing their work stock to the clinic because the greater the number of animals treated the less will be the cost per head. He suggests that the animals not be given any food for at least 12 to 18 hours before treatments are given. Growers should watch for local announcements as to when and where the clinics are to be held.

School Lunch Calls For Special Foods

Sponsors of school lunches can get help from the Food Distribution Administration in paying for these lunches if they will follow two approved school lunch patterns in preparing the food, say officials from Washington. The Administration will pay, usually from 6 to 9 cents per meal, for certain specified foods purchased for and served in either of the two kinds of lunches. The menu may include a wide variety of foods, depending on local supplies of foods. The "Type A" lunch provides for a third to a half of the five kinds of food that a growing child needs daily. The "Type B" lunch has the same kinds of foods but the helpings are smaller and contain less protein, fat, minerals, and vitamins, except for milk, which remains the same. The officials point out that adults, who want a nutritious lunch, can follow the "Type A" lunch pattern to advantage in ordering food at a restaurant.

We, as Americans

Reserve the right to worship, to live, to talk, to observe and celebrate any occasion that we desire. That is why Christmas means so much to each of us. It is symbolic of the American Way of Life.

And so, we, as Americans, say Merry Christmas to you, our fellow Americans.

It's Another

From the times of our forefathers, America has enjoyed a traditional Christmas. It has always been and will always continue to be a festive season of good fellowship and good cheer. It is a time for remembering friends and loved ones, one to give thanks for those blessings which America enjoys.

Although our lives have been affected by circumstances and events within the past months, the spirit of Christmas remains unchanged. From the pleasures of the Yuletide season today we gain strength with which to meet the problems of tomorrow. From the thoughtfulness of those whom we hold dear, we obtain a sense of well being and a desire to create greater achievements.

The American Christmas must remain traditional regardless of conditions and events. It is our obligation to keep alive the glorious customs that have been the predominating factor of the American Christmas for many, many years.

Let us be happy and considerate of others this Christmas so that we may obtain the greatest enjoyment the season offers. This is our Christmas wish for you.

"THE FURNITURE MAN"

HERTFORD, N. C.

I extend to you the warmest greetings. This is our 30th Christmas that we have had the pleasure of serving you, but it is different from anything that we have experienced in the history of our business, which began 15 years before we opened our Furniture Store.

We have been forced to change our business methods in various ways, and because of these changes, effective immediately, we can not sell or put away any goods unless same are paid for in full.

We still deliver, but Government regulations forbid us to deliver small parcels unless we are near your home.

Furniture has been rationed to us for the past 18 months and today, as for the past six months, we are selling twice as much as we receive. We feel quality and price have a lot to do with this. We do not believe in Black Market business and therefore our stock is smaller than it might be if we wished to do business under Black Market conditions. We prefer our way. However, we are hoping that with the large amount of merchandise we have on order, our factories may soon be able to replenish our stock of items to our usual large supply.

Beginning January 1, our store hours will be as follows:

Monday through Friday, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. except Thursday, when we close at 12 noon.

Saturday, 8 a. m. to 9:45 p. m.
