Waste Paper Needed

The need for waste paper is "as critical as ever" and every effort will be made to increase waste paper collection and pulp production in order to meet the requirements of the emergency.

S. G. Stevenot, president of a pulp company, points out that one-half of the entire paper output is consumed in packaging material for food, machines and material shipped overseas. Wood pulp is used in the manufacture of half of our smokeless powder and the diversion of pulp and its products to military uses explains the shortage of paper for civilian use and emphasizes the necessity of continuing the drive to collect waste paper.

We report these facts in order to encourage citizens of Perquimans County to continue the efforts to conserve paper and to collect used paper for future use. The waste paper campaign strengthens the war effort and tends to relieve the shortage of packaging material for the home front.

Very shortly, now, the Wm. Paul Stallings Post of the American Legion will conduct a waste paper drive and it is the hope of this newspaper that every person residing in the county will aid in the collection by saving and contributing waste paper to the Legionnaires.

Overseas Christmas Mail For Boys

The Postoffice Department reminds Americans that Christmas packages for Army and Navy personnel overseas must be mailed between September 15th and October 15th.

Because of the importance of getting mail to our service men, we call attention to the reminder of Postmaster-General Frank C. Walker, who urges that these rules be carefully followed:

- 1-Addresses of the sender and addressee should be written inside the package as well as on the outside, to assure delivery in case the outside wrapper is lost.
2-Containers made of metal, wood or fibreboard are preferable.
3-Parcels must not exceed five pounds, nor be more than 15 inches long or 36 inches in length and girth combined.
4-"Christmas Parcel" should be marked plainly on the outside and package should be carefully packed, wrapped and securely tied.
5-Perishable goods, intoxicants, inflammable materials and anything that may damage other mail must not be sent.

Cheap Air Rates

Something of an idea of post-war travel by air is seen in the announcement by Pan-American World Airways that it will sponsor a low-cost, high-speed air transportation route between the United States and Latin America.

Appealing to the "average man and his family," the program includes long-distance passenger rates as low as three and one-half cents a mile for space in reclining seats on "express" flights, compared to the present average of eight and three-fourths cents. The schedule would cut the present fare from New York to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, from $491 to $175, and the elapsed time from 66 hours to 46 hours.

It remains to be seen whether these rates, which are lower than present steamship fares, will attract enough business to make them profitable. After all, not many Americans have business in Latin America and there will be only a limited number able to pay several hundred dollars for a round trip ticket regardless of the cheapness of the trip per mile.

Along The Seine

With Allied commanders enjoying the advantage of air reconnaissance they continue to maintain a curtain of silence over the whereabouts of their own troops. But when a corner is lifted here and there or when German reports contain some circumstantial evidence of reliability, it appears that the enemy is pulling back to the general line of the Seine.

Some Allied reports make much of

With Perquimans Boys In Service

Hello Max: Thanks a million for the Perquimans Weekly. Meant to thank you before, but stayed pretty busy getting ready for the big jump. I landed in France at 12:50 a. m., June 6th. For awhile things were pretty hot, but I got by O. K. I'm back in England now, and had a nice pile of Perquimans Weeklies waiting here, so I have spent most of the afternoon reading them. It is really nice to read about all the people back home. Haven't seen any boys from Hertford over here but am on the lookout. Well, keep the Weekly coming and tell the folks hello for me.

Be seeing you soon, Al Ward

Hello Max: A year ago when I left Hertford (V. C., I hear that word daily now, but always Hertford, England), I never thought I'd eventually end up in the United Kingdom. In one short sentence I can convey my feeling, I am terribly disappointed in the English people, their country is very beautiful though, Max.

I want to thank you and the Hertford Banking Company for the paper which I did receive until recently and which I hope I shall be receiving again soon. Believe me, I enjoy the Perquimans Weekly very much, I sincerely thank those responsible for getting the paper.

Your friend, Jesse Lee Harris

Dear Sir: I enjoy the Perquimans Weekly very much, and I want to thank the bank for sending it to me. I enjoy reading it a lot. Tell all the girls and boys I said hello. I will be glad when the war is over so I can come back home again, and so all the boys can come back home for good. I will close now.

Jack Hoffer

Dear Editor: I have been receiving your most welcome paper now for some time and I want you to know that I highly appreciate it. It helps me in keeping up with the news back home and the many things that are happening throughout the country. Have found out where many of the Perquimans boys are located by reading your paper and I now look forward for each copy of it.

I have been out of the States for about 20 months and have seen many parts of England, Africa and Italy. In that time I have seen no place that will compare with the old home town of Hertford, and Perquimans County. My greatest desire now is for the day when I can return home and enjoy the pleasures of that much loved country. I know now that when someone said "there's no place like home," he surely was not lying. I sincerely wish to express my thanks to the Hertford Banking Co. for their thoughtfulness, who has made it possible for me to receive the Perquimans Weekly. Gestures like that are a great boost to our morale who are so far from home at the fact that most of the Seine bridges—except at Paris—have been destroyed. The implication is that the Germans will be unable to get what armor and supplies they have saved from Normandy across the river under air attack. Too much emphasis should not be placed on this factor in the rapidly shifting military picture.

The Seine below Paris is a river of only moderate size. Under air attack it may hamper the Germans, but will certainly not stop them. Nor will it afford them a sure new defense line. Military engineers today work marvels in the crossing of streams, and rivers aren't what they used to be in a military sense. The Russians in crossing the Dnieper and Vistula had a much more difficult problem than the Seine offers. Operations in France have now been opened up to a degree that a stable line may never again be formed.

this time. Will close for now. Give my love and best wishes to the folks back home. May the day soon come when we will all be together again.

William E. Hobbs

Hello, Max: I have been receiving your paper each week and I sure want to thank the person or persons responsible for sending it to me. It sure helps me keep up with the news back in good Old Perquimans County. I sure do miss the good friends that I have back in Hertford.

I have been keeping up with the theatre ads each week. We still have the best shows that are being released. We have a theatre next to the barracks that I stay in. I sure miss the theatre and the friends very much. I don't have very far to go to see a show. Thanks again for the paper.

Yours very truly, GIBBS. (B. Littleton Gibbs.)

Dear Editor: I have been receiving The Perquimans Weekly regularly since coming to Oklahoma and I want you and all others concerned to know that I greatly appreciate it.

I look forward every Tuesday to mail call, and my Perquimans Weekly just as a letter from friends at home, because it brings me news of the activities of my favorite town and community.

I like to read of the USO activities, and to those concerned who are making that possible, "Carry on! The USO has helped us a lot. It is truly a home away from home."

I'll be leaving here soon, but remember friends, I enjoy the home town news and if it's a new address that is required, I'll be writing again.

Thanks! ARCHIE RIDDICK.

Dear Editor: Just to say hello and we are hoping that Hertford is still the same. By we I mean two home town boys, Roy Rogerson and Pete Howell.

We have been looking for each other since Anzio. And one day we bumped into each other. What a pleasant surprise that was to see somebody from home. When we got back to camp we had another nice surprise. We had two nice new Perquimans Weeklies. Boy did we enjoy reading about the people at home, and talking about old times together.

And we want to thank you for the papers; we both have been getting them regular. We had a nice day together talking over our experiences. We have had some pretty tough times, but I think that Raymond had the toughest time of them all. But in everything that we did we came through without a scratch, which we are thankful for, and we both hope that we won't have to go through anything like we have in the past.

We start to go in with the infantry, although we don't leave the beach. But we are with the boys all the way. We hit when it's a little hot, then the infantry pushes on and softens up the others, and when they are tough with them they are really softened up. The infantry doesn't get half as much credit as they deserve, and as for the Beach Battalion, well, the Coast Guard and CB's get all the credit.

So as a perfect day ends, we will close. Keep the papers coming and don't forget that we are always looking for them, and we thank you and all the rest for the paper.

Sincerely, C. T. Howell, Roy Rogerson

SOIL CONSERVATION NOTES

By F. A. McGeehan Seth Long, New Hope road, plans to improve his timber stand by doing some selective cutting and thinning on approximately 20 acres of his woodland.

The Soil Conservation District helped Mr. Long select and mark trees to cut on approximately three acres. Selective cutting and thinning will increase the production and quality of timber.

J. S. McNider plans to improve the drainage on his farm near Chapin-oke. With proper drainage he will be able to bring into cultivation approximately 16 acres which have been idle for several years.

A topographical survey was made of the farm by the Soil Conservation District to determine best way to drain the land.

Conservation farms plans have been prepared for 28 farms in Perquimans County. These 28 farms total 3,031 acres of land.

Soil samples have been taken on thirty farms for fertilizer analysis. These samples are sent to the Soil Testing Division, State Department of Agriculture in Raleigh. These samples are analyzed and the farmer is given recommendations as to the amount and analysis of fertilizer to use for different crops.
