cross, as the emblem of faith. As a matter of fact, the Jew placed too much dependence upon the physical temple, often losing sight of the spiritual truths it represented.

What the ancient temple was to Israel, their church should be to Christians. Every one of the buildings, whether great or small which are dedicated to the service of God tells to all who pass by of a God ever present among men and opens its doors wide, so that, in reverent worship, men may wait before God and realize in humble joy a living experience of his presence in their hearts.

"Can one be a Christian without joining the church?" "Yes, to be sure", replies Nolan Rice Best. "But what's the use of being that kind of Christian? It is queer how industrious some people are in figuring religion down to the minimum. When a man joins a secret order, he comes in asking how many degrees he is going to be permitted to take. But the same man, when he decides he ought to be a Christian, is likely to insist on knowing the least requirement he can get off with."

During these troubled times when the world is upset and the peace for which our brave boys laid down their lives seems to be in the distant future, we need EXPERIENCE in the legislative branch of our government.

Many important problems affecting the lives of every man, woman and child in this nation must be worked out in order to insure a satisfactory settlement of the many crises in our world today. For this job we need men with EXPERIENCE, men who know their way around Washington, men who have the proper contacts, and who have made a record for service in the United States Congress. Bill Umstead has all these qualifications — and more. He served three terms in the National House of Representatives in the Sixth North Carolina District and retired voluntarily at the end of his third term.

While a member of the House of Representatives, he served on the Appropriations Committee, and at the time of his retirement, he was Chairman of the Subcommittee on Appropriations for the Navy Department. While a member of Congress, he served on the Subcommittee on Appropriations for the Department of Agriculture and devoted a great deal of time to the development of our present farm policy and program. He supported and voted for the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Rural Electrification Act, the Farm Tenant Purchase Program, Soil Conservation Act, and the Tobacco Control Act.

On December 18, 1946, he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Josiah W. Bailey, and his record as a United States Senator is an enviable one. He is qualified from every standpoint to continue the excellent service that he is giving his constituents in the United States Senate, and he respectfully solicits your vote in the coming primary.
