

"The Lost Colony" Opens 8th Season In Manteo July 1st

65,000 Persons Expected To Witness Show This Season

Paul Green's great symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony", the only show of its type to ever be presented over such a long period, opened for its eighth season in the Waterside Theatre at Manteo Thursday, July 1, and will continue through Labor Day on September 6 with showings at 8:15 o'clock every night of the week except Mondays and Tuesdays.

The exciting and romantic show, built up around attempts by English Colonists sent over by Sir Walter Raleigh in the late 16th Century, portrays incidents which have become America's greatest history-mystery. This will be the 11th anniversary season of the show's premiere in 1937. For three seasons during the war years it was not presented.

Since the Lost Colony's premiere in 1937, more than 500,000 persons have seen the show. It has been estimated by General Manager John Parker and other officials of the Roanoke Island Historical Association, sponsors of the production, that more than 65,000 persons will see the show during the current season opening next week unless something beyond the control of the management occurs to prevent same. There are 237 persons in The Lost Colony company, including cast members from throughout North Carolina and the professional New York stage supplementing Roanoke Islanders who have roles in the cast.

Musical feature of the great show is The Lost Colony Chorus made up of excellently trained voices from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J., Theos. S. Cronk is director of the choir.

"Make Safety Our No. 1 Crop" 4-H 1948 Slogan

"Make Safety Our No. 1 Crop." That's the 1948 slogan of 4-H Club boys and girls throughout the nation to help reduce the annual toll of 18,000 deaths and 1 1/2 million injured on farms due to accidents.

Many members are taking active part in the National 4-H Farm Safety awards program, which is being continued in North Carolina under the direction of the Extension Service for the sixth consecutive year.

Among the members' activities to safeguard their families against accidents are removing or correcting hazards on their farmsteads. Their safety measures include nailing down loose boards in homes and barns; covering open wells and water tanks; properly storing tools; exercising care in operating machinery on farms and automobiles on highways, to mention only a few.

As incentives for superior records in farm safety work, awards are again offered this year by General Motors. They comprise sterling silver medals to five winners in each county, and a merit plaque to the state championship county. Each state's champion will receive a trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress next November. Eight state winners selected to receive national honors will each receive a $200 college scholarship.

Last year's state winner in North Carolina was Jane Alexander of Gastonia.

There were 31 county medal winners in 1947.

Iredell County was named to receive the 1947 merit plaque.

Look Out For Chiggers

How many times our lovely outings in the spring and summer have been followed by an infestation of the red bugs or chiggers. We itched and scratched until sometimes we had sores on our bodies.

The Journal of the American Medical Association published an article on the mites, in which it gave some very good advice. The novice sallies forth all unprepared, sits on the grass or on a log, comes back infested with the pests. He goes to bed and is kept awake by itching and scratching. He is in for it then. He may put on one of several applications that are soothing enough to afford him several hours of sleep at a stretch. But the only effective cure is time.

The chigger is the six-legged larva of the eight-legged parent that spends her winters under ground and on low plants. In the spring the eggs are deposited on the ground. In four weeks they hatch. The little red devils pour forth and lie in waiting for a host on which to settle. The creatures are parasites. They live by sucking the life fluid of the animals upon which they light.

Man seems to be their favorite hosts as you find to your sorrow. If you have spent several delightful hours roaming and sitting in the great outdoors. Arrived at home as tired as a dog that has been running rabbits all day, you stretch out for a delightful sleep. Just as you are dropping off into dreamland, the chiggers turn loose their batteries on you. They begin to dine on your juices, and in place of your juices which they steal they deposit their irritant digestive excretions which itch so fiercely.

Now, let me tell you a little secret. Chiggers mortally hate sulphur. Therefore, if you would protect yourself from the voracious red bugs, sift some sulphur in your shoes before you hie forth to the picnic or prepare to sit on the banks of the streams and lake, while engaged in the delightful occupation of fishing. Better dust your whole body with sulphur before going on the picnic.

If you took no precautions and became infested, try applying kerosene to the itchy areas. Then get into a tub of hot water and scrub your entire body with soap. Rubbing alcohol is helpful in allaying itching if you apply it to the bites and follow it with boric acid ointment, or one to two per cent of carbolic acid.

Plain gasoline or carbon tetrachloride swabbed on with gauze or cotton is effective in reducing the itching. Be careful in handling gasoline. Tetrachloride is not inflammable.

Be cautious about scratching. You can do yourself great harm in this way by infecting yourself.

Love

Love is God's greatest gift to man. It enables him to make with joy supreme sacrifices for the benefit of others.

The man of Galilee, the Christ exemplified that in His life and in His death. Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down His life for His enemies.

Around the world today where there are men or groups of men who believe in His teachings and follow him, there are love, kindness, generosity, harmony and peace among them. There could not be a war if men followed His precepts, for there would be no antagonism, no cruelty, and no revenge.

There would be love. Saint Paul tells us that "love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; vaunteth not itself; it is not puffed up; seeketh not her own; is not easily provoked; thinketh no evil. And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

If you give love, love will come back to you. It may be many days before you will realize it, but it will surely come back some day in your time of need or sorrow. If you "give to the world the best you have, the best will come back to you." If you hate, you poison the well springs of your life and destroy your own peace, and that of those about you. Hate will produce a terrible harvest of destructive emotions within your own soul.

You see the awful results of hate and greed in the present world. It is the harvest that is being reaped from sowing the seeds of hate with all its venomous brood. Hitler and his fellow criminals trembled for themselves, for they saw descending upon them the doom that they had planned for others.

Yes, it will all come back to you. As you sow, so also will you reap.

Obvious Conclusions

The city editor was lecturing the dub reporter again.

"You use too many words, Wadsworth," he said. "You say here that he was poor but honest. Why not just say he was honest?"

"Again, you say that he was without money or friends. You're wasting space. Simply say that he was without money."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

in the Old Testament. His name is never mentioned again. He rose from obscurity into the spotlight only to vanish from sight. However, his contribution was outstanding and his prophecy, if it had been heeded, would have saved Ahab from destruction. Micah had the conviction that he was speaking for God and that what he said was the truth, regardless of the effect it had or the reception it would get. It took real courage, too, to bring a message which he knew would be unpopular.

The modern tendency is to evade the issues and to say what seems expedient at the moment. In reply to a question, "Why bother so much about the truth?" Dr. Henry Ward Beecher declared: "In my judgment no law of morals is more deeply fundamental to individual character or to the safety of society than truth-telling. I do not mean telling everything that everybody can, and telling it the time. Silence is often gold. But so vital is this matter of truth telling that a breach of it invariably produces mischief, anxiety, trouble and running into habits which only defile personal character tears the universe from about lying turns black into white, a white into black. It confuses false with the true, and dishonor with honor. In fact, this is what we do collectively as well as individually."
