

Farm Groups In Favor Of Census

In recognition of the value of the Annual Farm Census to the welfare of the people in North Carolina, the State Board of Agriculture, the Grange, and the U.S.D.A. Council have passed resolutions recommending that the Farm Census be reinstated on an annual basis rather than on the 5-year basis as it now stands.

Each resolution cites the need for Annual County statistics during this period when additional crops are coming under quotas and rapid changes are being made in the pattern of agriculture.

Agricultural and urban leaders throughout the State have expressed sincere and keen interests in seeing the return of the Farm Census to the annual basis. Prior to action by the 1947 Legislature the Farm Census was taken annually, beginning in 1918 and ending in 1948.

BUNCH-LAYDEN

curring from his father his share of the inheritance and the thoughtlessness and foolish waste of it. Finally, reduced to poverty and dire want the son decides to return home, repentant, and seek the inferior place of a servant in his father's household. He was surprised by the loving welcome which his father gave him and the generous treatment he received.

Woodrow Wilson wrote an essay entitled, "When a Man Comes to Himself," probably basing his title on the phrase in the seventeenth verse. "It is a very wholesome and regenerating change when a man comes to himself," he wrote, "It is not only after periods of recklessness of infatuation, when he has played the spendthrift of the fool, that a man comes to himself. He comes to himself after experiences of which he alone may be aware, when he has left off being wholly preoccupied with his own powers and interests, with every petty plan that centers in himself, when he has cleared his eyes to see the world as it is, and his own true place and function in it.

"Surely a man has come to himself only when he has found the best that is in him, and has satisfied his heart with the highest achievement he is fit for. It is only then that he knows of what he is capable and what his heart demands. And no thoughtful man ever came to the end of his life and had time and a little space of calm in which to look back upon it, who did not know and acknowledge that it was what he had done unselfishly for others, and nothing else, that satisfied him in the retrospect, and made him feel that he had played the man."
