County Agent News

BY L. C. YAGEL

Price relationships will likely be increasing unfavorable for the farmers in 1950 and the coming year. Likely prices received will fall, but prices paid will remain high. Efforts to keep reasonable relationships is causing an increasing number of commodities to be placed under production controls. Farmers should make adjustments which will lead to a farming system consistent with the long time program for the State rather than adopting stop-gap measures for 1950. Except for specialties, the only commercial enterprises which appear profitable and can be added are some form of livestock.

The production of livestock in turn demands more feed and the most economical source of good feed is pasture. Approximately 230 acres were seeded to permanent pasture in Perquimans County last fall. Already many farmers are finding that this is enough to meet the demands of the livestock they now have. They are also finding that their pastures are the cheapest source of feed available. In order that we may observe some of these pastures and talk with the farmers, a Pasture Tour has been planned for Friday afternoon, April 14. Dr. E. R. Collins, Extension Agronomy Specialist will be present to assist with the discussion.

The group will meet at the Agricultural Building in Hertford at 1:00 o'clock and go by the following schedule: 1:30, M. T. Griffin, 9 miles South of Hertford on Rt. 17; 2:15, J. I. Lane, 6 miles North of Winfall on Belvidere Rd.; 3:00, Loftin Stallings, Whiteston Community near Gates County line; 3:45, C. C. Chappell, Belvidere community, near Chowan County line.

All farmers interested in good pastures are urged to attend the tour, or join in any place along the line.
