

Norfolk Symphony Opens 36th Season Saturday, Oct. 8th

Norfolk's well known Symphony Orchestra and Choral Association, longest organization of its kind between Washington and Atlanta, will open its 36th season Saturday night, October 8th with a "Pops" concert at the Norfolk Municipal Auditorium.

The regular season will get under way on Monday, October 24th with the first of a series of seven concerts which will feature two choral masterworks, four piano concertos, a violin concerto and two birthday celebrations.

Mendelssohn's dramatic Biblical oratorio, "Elijah" is under preparation by the Norfolk Civic Chorus for presentation January 23, with the Norfolk Symphony and outstanding soloists. Anyone interested in participating, can join the Chorus at rehearsals on Mondays at 7:30 P. M. in Mendoza Hall of Olet Shalom Temple, Raleigh Avenue, one-half block west of Colonial. For its Easteride concert, on April 9, the Civic Chorus will present Bach's soul-stirring "The Passion According to St. Matthew". Three outstanding pianists will appear with the Symphony: On November 24th, Mieczyslaw Horowitzski, just back from the Frades Festival where he played with Pablo Casals, and long recognized "the pianist of the world" will perform two concertos, one by Beethoven, one by Mozart; December 12th will bring back to Norfolk Eunice Podis, who will apply her fiery technique to Khachaturian's Concerto; and on February 20th we shall hear once again Leonid Hambro, who has achieved international renown since he appeared with the Norfolk Symphony eight years ago, in the exquisite Chopin E-Minor Concerto. Robert Mann, first violinist of the Juilliard String Quartet, and a popular soloist with the Norfolk Symphony on several occasions, will return on March 19th to perform the Brahms Violin Concerto.

This season will be celebrated throughout the world as marking the 200th anniversary of the birth of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Edgar Schenkman, Conductor and Musical Director of the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra and the Norfolk

Civic Chorus, has programmed one of Mozart's works on each of the regular season's seven programs. The 90th birthday of the contemporary composer, Jan Sibelius, will be celebrated at the December concert with the playing of one of the master's important compositions.

A unique feature of the Symphony year will be the serving of Buffet Suppers for symphony-goers on Symphony-Mondays at the Commodore Maury Hotel, prior to each concert. Many hostesses are already planning Symphony Supper parties for the night of the opening concert, Monday, October 24th.

FILM TO BE SHOWN
A film, "With His Help", will be shown at Bethel Church, Sunday night, October 9 at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.
