

TERRY SANFORD and FARMING

"The State Highway Commission should be returned to the people so a man won't have to go all the way to Raleigh to get a load of gravel for his road."
—Terry Sanford.

"Our best program for Agriculture is the second phase of the Kerr Scott plan to help the North Carolina farmer. The first stage of the Scott plan was fundamental: roads, electricity, telephones, to lift up rural life and to lay the groundwork for improved income. He never had a chance to put into effect the second stage: production, processing, marketing, to lift up income.

"Kerr Scott got the farmer out of the mud. Our job is to get the farmer out of the hole." —Terry Sanford.

"We must get started on the job of paving school bus routes."—Terry Sanford.

"We are going to use the Governor's office to put on farming and farm income the same emphasis which has been placed so effectively on industrial development. Our top industry—farming—deserves top emphasis."—Terry Sanford.

"We must attract food processors to create additional farm markets. This will be a part of our broad program for marketing." —Terry Sanford.

"Research, for quality which will bring more money, and research for new uses for old products, will get my firm support and constant attention." —Terry Sanford.

"North Carolina does not intend to get out of the farming business." —Terry Sanford.

VOTE FOR

WALTER B. JONES
On Saturday May 28th

The 14-county First Congressional District has since 1898 been represented in Congress by men who made their homes in Washington in Beaufort County. During those 62 years, no other county and no other community has sent to Congress the representative of the district.

Pitt, the largest county in the district, has sent only two members to the U. S. House of Representatives and they were Louis C. Latham in 1887 and Harry Skinner in 1895.

From Pitt County this year a capable, qualified man who has proved himself as a political leader has offered himself as a candidate for Congress from the First Congressional District. He is highly regarded not only in Pitt, but in other counties of the district and throughout the state.

We urge the people of Pitt County to unite behind the candidacy of Walter B. Jones of Farmville for Congress in the May Primary. We likewise urge the people of other counties of the district to consider carefully the qualifications of this candidate. If they do, we are confident they will join the people of Pitt County in supporting Walter Jones as representative from the First Congressional District.

For the first time in 14 years, voters of the district this year will be confronted with the decision on which of two candidates for the Democratic nomination should represent them in Congress.

Veteran Congressman Herbert C. Bonner of Washington, who has held the post since he was appointed to succeed Lindsay Warren in 1940, is running for re-election.

Also seeking the post is Walter Jones who has represented Pitt County in the North Carolina General Assembly since 1955, and has proved himself a forceful, resourceful and capable legislator. In each of the sessions of the General Assembly in which he has served Walter Jones has exerted leadership in movements that show clearly his concern for good government and better government goes far beyond the boundaries of Pitt County. In 1955 he co-sponsored a bill to prohibit the sale of lewd comic books in the state, and he spearheaded a bill that would provide a retirement fund for law enforcement officers throughout the state.

During the 1957 session, Rep. Jones introduced and pushed through the legislature over powerful opposition a bill that created the compulsory automobile liability insurance law to provide greater protection for the people of North Carolina.

In the most recent session, Rep. Jones led the unsuccessful movement which would have restored the State Highway Commission to an organization of 14 members representing all geographic areas of the state and putting the Commission closer to the people. In both the 1957 and 1959 sessions he led the fight for establishment of a four-year school of nursing at East Carolina College which was approved by the General Assembly last year.

The legislature record of Walter Jones shows he is a sound capable leader, a representative of the people who stand for progress and one who has the ability and energy to effectively represent the people in places of high government responsibility.

Walter Jones' record of leadership on the community, county and state level clearly mark him as a man who is capable of government responsibility much greater than that which he has yet had, and as a man who is destined to be of much greater public service to the people of the area in which he lives.
