

North Carolina County Agents Will Be Honored Next Month

The men who have been given by district agents to represent advisory and technical assistance to North Carolina farmers for more than half a century will be honored next month at a luncheon in Raleigh.

D. S. Weaver, director of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, said the state's county agricultural agents have been selected for the annual Southeastern award of the Agricultural Division of American Cyanamid Company.

The award luncheon will be held at 12:30 P. M., Thursday, July 14, at the College Inn.

North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine will present a silver plaque to a county agent selected by district agents to represent advisory and technical assistance to North Carolina farmers...

Selection of North Carolina for the honor was accompanied by citation of "exceptional work rendered by its county agents and other Extension Service workers."

Weaver said he hopes the award will "make the public more aware that money spent on Agricultural Extension work is a sound investment in the services of qualified professional men who are public servants dedicated to the state's progress."

North Carolina's first county agent was James A. Butler...

Thank You!

I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude to you folks who supported and voted for me for Judge of Recorder's Court in the last Primary Election.

THROW THE BOOK AWAY! Chrysler dealers are doing just that to make it easy for you to own a brand-new Chrysler. Most trade-ins are based on the N.A.D.A. Book or a similar guide to used car prices. But your Chrysler dealer has thrown the book out the window to give you a higher-than-book-value trade-in for your present car!

Stop in. Subtract his high trade from the price of the Chrysler you choose.

Under quotas, the law provides for wheat price support at a level between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, depending on wheat supply, for producers who comply with their farm acreage allotments. Current estimates indicate a 1961 wheat price support at 75 per cent of parity. If marketing quotas are disapproved, the 1961 support level available to such cooperators will be at 50 per cent of parity. None
