Leading economists say the average American family should be saving at least 5% of its income.

According to leading economists, the average American family of four with an annual income of $10,000 should be saving at least 5% of this income each and every year. 5% of $10,000 is $500 which is a lot of money. And when you're saving a lot of money, you should be earning a good interest rate on it. We at Peoples Bank pay a good interest rate on savings. We pay 5% guaranteed interest on our Peoples Premium Passbook Savings. Our Premium Passbook requires an initial deposit of $500 (how ironic, on $10,000 income you should be saving $500 anyway) and interest is computed on a daily basis. So save a nickel of every dollar you earn, and we'll give you a nickel for every dollar you can save in a Peoples Premium Passbook.
