candidates, Herbert Nixon, and Wesley Nelson did not file for the June 8th election, thus leaving five candidates seeking the two available councilmen seats.

Mr. And Mrs. Odell Hurdle 1970 Vegetable Garden Winner

Who will win this cup in the 1971 Vegetable Garden Contest is the big question asked today by Mr. and Mrs. Odell Hurdle, Route 1, Belvidere, N.C. Mr. and Mrs. Hurdle stated today they are striving to keep this cup. They were the 1970 winners in the Perquimans County Vegetable Garden Contest. The 1969 winners were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Felton, Route 1, Hertford, N.C., stated today by Mrs. M.B. Taylor and W.C. Strowd, County Home Economics and Agricultural Extension Agents. The top winner in the county will participate in the Area Vegetable Garden Judging, July 1, 1971. The County judging will be prior to the area judging July 1971. The purpose of this vegetable garden production and conservation program is to encourage an ample Spring garden which will meet the family's health needs and stretch the household dollar.

To Demonstrate Here

Dr. Harry E. Scott, Entomology Specialist, with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State College, will give a demonstration on Vegetable Garden Insects Control, Tuesday, June 8, 1971 at 10:00 a.m. in the Perquimans County Office Building. The meeting is expecting to last about one hour. Dr. Scott will bring to this area the newest information on Vegetable Garden Insects Control. He will speak to vegetable producers in Perquimans, Pasquotank, Gates, Camden and Currituck counties. Dr. Scott has been with Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State since December, 1964. As entomology specialist, Dr. Scott is involved in educational work relating primarily to the safe use of pesticides. A native of Ontario, Canada, he is a 1941 graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College.

He has done graduate study at the University of Toronto and received his Ph.D in entomology from Cornell University in 1952. Dr. Scott was on the faculty at Ontario Agricultural College from 1941 until 1948. He was agricultural research officer with the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada, from 1948 until 1953. He was in the Canadian Officers Training Corps from 1940 until 1943. He came to North Carolina as extension entomology specialist in 1953. He left in 1960 and worked in private industry until his return to N.C. State in 1964. Dr. Scott is a member of the United Church and a member of the Entomological Society of America, the Entomological Society of Canada and Sigma XI. He is the author of some 70 papers and publications relating to entomology. Dr. and Mrs. Scott have seven children.

Completes 15 Hours Training

The Winfall Fire Department completed 15 hours of Fire Service Training last week. The training was in hose and ladder evolutions, air packs and pre-plan fire inspections. The following men completed 15 hours of training: Joseph K. Barber, Robert L. Stallings, and O. Wayne Winslow. The following men attended some of the training sessions during the week: C.D. Barclift, William Ray Miller, Lloyd Ray Morgan, Grover Sloop, Charles E. Smith, Josiah Smith, Wayne White, Grover Hollowell and George T. Roach.

the fire service training was put on through the College of the Albemarle with C.T. Skinner Jr. of Hertford as instructor. The College furnished the projectors, slides, and air pak equipment used in training these fire fighters.

Chief Wayne Winslow assigned the members of his department to three fire attack teams for the purpose of training together and making pre-plan fire instructions of some of the large buildings in Winfall. The Air Pak training was conducted at the Winfall Community Building with each fireman crawling through obstacles in the building to simulate actual fire conditions. Chief Winslow stated, "We may be small in number, but I believe we can hold our own when it comes to fighting fires." Assistant Chief George T. Roach said nearly all the Winfall firemen can operate the pumper and with some more experience he feels that his department can become more proficient.

Hoffler Earns Top Honors

U.S. Air Force Captain Joseph W. Hoffler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoffler, 323 Dobb St., Hertford, N.C., has helped his Minuteman unit earn top honor as the best missile wing in the Strategic Air Command.

Captain Hoffler is assigned to the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman AFB, Mo.

The 351st has received the annual Colonel John W. Carroll Award, a rotating trophy named for a late missile wing commander.

Captain Hoffler, a deputy missile combat crew commander, and wing personnel were recognized for conducting the best tactical operations in the command during the past year. They maintain an around-the-clock vigil at the Whiteman silo-launched Minuteman complex as members of the nation's nuclear deterrent force.

He was commissioned in 1964 upon completion of Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex.

A 1958 graduate of Perquimans County Union High School, Winfall, N.C., he received his B.S. degree in business in 1962 from North Carolina Central University.

His wife, Ruby, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Kimbrough, Roanoke Ave., Memphis

One Man Art Show At Perquimans Library

Jerry Sullivan shows Mrs. Silas Whedbee, Librarian, his ink drawing which he calls "Three Faces".

Mrs. Sidney Jessup and Mrs. H.A. Whitley admire an oil painting called "Opened Tulips", a bright picture with sunny reds and yellows. Their interest in painting began many years ago when they studied with the late Miss Penny Norcom. Mrs. Whitley has continued to paint, and could have a one-man show of her work.

Jerry Sullivan's one-man art show attracted much interest at its opening on May 27 when more than one hundred persons came to view his varied display of paintings. His work is very interesting because of the wide range of media used and includes etchings, ink drawing with fine brush and felt nub, oil, acrylics, and water color. The show may be seen at the Perquimans County Library until June 4.
