Completing Home Nurse Study Source of Pride

JANICE CHRISTENSEN

Although they didn't graduate to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," 39 Alexander County homemakers are proud of the certificates they received after com-pleting a home nursing

Mrs. Agnes Watts, extension home economics agent, says the graduates grappled with such topics as patient care skills, caring for the bed-ridden patient, home emergencies and improvising hospital equipment.

The course was designed in six 2-hour sessions.

In addition to being ready for family emergencies, some women have signed up to "sit" with patients in the hospital or at home, Mrs. Watts added.

The agent taught a nutrition and diet class. Other teachers included a registered nurse and a certified Red Cross instructor. ·

RECORDS HELP

"Learning to keep records of family living expenses has helped us manage our home and our business," believes Mrs. Paul Ramseur, Shelby,

Not only does the homemaker, assisted by a teenage daughter, keep family records, she also keeps the books for a laundromat the family operates.

"By keeping daily records of income and expenses, we have all the information needed for getting state and federal taxes filed," the Cleveland County homemaker added.

"I'm encouraging the young families in our community to keep records so they'll know where their money is going," Mrs. Ramseur told Thelma McVea, home extension economics agent.

LOVES TO SEW If there's one Tar Heel teenager who loves to sew, it's Shirley Goodnight of the Concordia 4-H Club, Rowan County.

In the past five years, Shirley has made 103 garments and 85 other articles, such as bedroom shoes, aprons and yarn dolls.

"That's not all," says Louise Woodard, associate home economics extension agent, "Shirley has sewn for others and has taught five people to sew."

The China Grove teenager has consistently won honors in her clothing project, the county dress revue and district and state Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contests.

New Budget Off Course? Don't Be Discouraged

RALEIGH -- How well is the financial plan or budget you made at the beginning of the year working for you? If your estimates for living expenses, savings, contributions, and recreation have not been satisfactory. don't be Often the discouraged. first plan doesn't work, point out extension home economics specialists, North Carolina State University.

An emergency may have occurred or circumstances may have changed. And like many other families, you may need to shuffle the plan to meet family needs and wants until the end of the year.

To know how well any financial plan fits your family, a systematic check is necessary. You know where your money goes only when you keep some kind of financial record. Your system need not be elaborate, but it should show you how to spend your money, the specialists indicate.

Food, for example, is not the only "nibbler" on the best of plans. Any thoughtless spending of quarters, dimes and nickels can cause trou-

Unexpected penses or emergencies, such as broken glasses or a plumber's repair bill, can cramp your plans. Bills for a number of emergencies may completely cripple your spending plan.

But when you know what your family is spending and for what, it's easier to make adjustments, the specialists add.

You can begin an account book any time of the year; you don't have to wait until the beginning of the year.

Keep your plan simple and it won't become a burden.

No Choice Father-So you want to be my son-in-law? Jack-No sir, but if I marry your daughter I don't see how I can help it.
