Colonial Acquires Florida K-Mart Food Stores Colonial Stores Incorporated, Atlanta based retail food chain, today announced an agreement to take over operation of eight K-Mart Food Stores in Florida from Allied Supermarkets, Inc. of Detroit.

Two of the stores are located in Orlando. The others are in Tampa, St. Petersburg, Largo, Bradenton, Daytona Beach and Pensacola. In addition to the eight stores, Colonial announced an agreement with S.S. Kresge, operators of the K-Mart discount stores, to open food stores in five other K-Mart locations in Florida - Orlando, St. Petersburg, Brandon, New Port Richey and Tampa - within the next 3 to 12 months. This is the first move of the $700 million a year, 435-store Colonial chain into the fast growing Central and West Coast regions of Florida. Currently, the company has 17 stores in Northern Florida - 10 in Jacksonville, 3 in Tallahassee, 2 in Gainesville and one each in Lake City and Ocala. The company recently awarded a contract for a multi-million dollar distribution center in Thomasville, Ga., which will serve Florida stores in addition to stores in South Georgia and Alabama.

Ernest F. Boyce, Colonial president, said the new Florida expansion is expected to give a substantial boost to Colonial's total sales volume, though he declined to specify any figure. "We have enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable relationship with K-Mart in other areas of the Southeast," Mr. Boyce said, "and we are looking forward to joining them in the Central and West Coast Florida areas. These markets certainly have the great growth potential that we are looking for."

Wears Result Of Student Creative art can be fun. Especially when you're a third grader and your teacher lets you paint a picture on a piece of fabric she's going to use to make a dress.

Mrs. J. Peele, a teacher at Lowes Grove Elementary School in Durham, recently bought some white pique fabric, cut an empire dress from it, and drew squares on the fabric with a black permanent ink magic marker. She carried the fabric to school and let each student paint a square and sign his work. After the masterpiece was sewn, Mrs. Peele placed the dress in salted water to permanently set the paint.

"The dress is lovely and the children are proud of their contribution," reports Mrs. Bernadette G. Watts, assistant home economics extension agent. THE WHOLE WAY "I can't believe I could well have been the motto of the 186 participants who walked 23 miles in Granville County's first Walk-A-Thon.

Purpose of the "long stroll," was to raise money to complete Granville County's goal for the State 4-H Development Fund and to help support other youth programs in the county. Each participant solicited one or more sponsors to contribute a certain amount for each mile walked, explains Linda Bright, assistant home economics extension agent.

One grandparent, anticipating that his grandson would last about three miles, generously offered to pay two dollars for each mile walked. The boy crossed the finish line and Grandfather reached into his pocket for forty-six dollars.

The Walk-A-Thon should help the youth programs to the tune of $3,000, the agent adds.

HOME BAKED BREAD Home baked bread still takes a high priority at mealtime and at fund raising time.

Suspicious Spots Found In Perquimans Forests

By: Sam Taylor Service Forester Sam Taylor, Service Forester, in his Forestry Notes column says, "An intensive aerial survey of the woodland in the eight Northeastern counties served by the Elizabeth City District Office was recently completed. The survey was to detect possible outbreaks of forest pest-either insects or disease. Using a four-place plane, flight lines are flown north and south at two mile intervals over each county. Forest Service personnel act as spotters and suspicious areas are marked on aerial photographs. A polaroid camera may be used to take color snapshots of the spot. Later a ground reconnaissance is made to determine the insect or disease responsible. If control action is needed the landowner is notified and recommendations are made and assistance given. Normally a salvage operation of the infested trees is all the control necessary in the forest. Occasionally spraying with benzene hexachloride (BHC) or lindane in No. 2 fuel oil is recommended if the trees cannot be salvaged. Single dead trees or groups of two or three are not considered serious in the forest and normally not recorded during the survey. These are often the results of lightning strikes. Only larger groups of dead or dying trees are recorded and the landowner notified. During the most recent survey 36 suspicious spots were found in the District. These are located as follows: Hertford County - 2; Gates County - 15; Pasquotank - 2; Camden - 7; and Perquimans - 10. No active spots were found in Chowan, Martin and Bertie Counties. If an infested spot was sighted on your woodland property, you will be notified by the local County Ranger if action is needed. The Southern Pine Beetle, shown below, is the most destructive insect of pines in our area. It may spread rapidly through apparently healthy timber when in epidemic stages. If this beetle is found on your property the Forest Service will urge you to take immediate control action."

Know Your Social Security

People who are under 72 in any months of the year and who are getting social security payments and working should make sure their earnings estimates for this year are up-to-date. The report should be made when the work begins and again when there is a change in either the work or estimated earnings. Any changes in the estimate made earlier this year should be reported as soon as possible to social security. The report can be made on the post-card form provided to every beneficiary who works. If the card has been lost, a visit or phone call to any social security office can take care of the report.

repay money at the end of the year. If a beneficiary's earnings don't go over $1,680 for the year, his social security payments won't be affected. If earnings exceed $1,680, $1 in social security payments is withheld for every $2 of earnings up to and including $2,880. Above $4,880, an additional $1 in payments is withheld for every $1 earned. Regardless of how much his yearly earnings are, however, a beneficiary can still get a payment for any month in which he neither earns over $140 in employment nor performs substantial services in self-employment.

Any working social security beneficiary in the Perquimans area who has a question about his earnings estimate for 1972 can call, write, or visit the Elizabeth City Social Security Office. The phone number is 338-3931.
