field crops, vegetables, fruits and nuts produced in N.C. last year is estimated at an all-time high $1,460 million, according to the annual report of the N.C. Crop Reporting Service. This includes receipts for quantities sold and to be sold and value of crops used on farms. The 1973 figure is about 41 per cent above the $1,037 million value placed on crops the previous year. The increase this year is atributed mainly to higher prices, but perfect fall harvesting weather and high yields aided the increase. ge increases in the value of tobacco, corn and soybeans led the way.

Corn for grain, the second most valuable crop in the State, came in with a worth of $264.0 million, compared with only $151.6 million for the 1972 crop. Yield was at a record high 82 bushels per Soybean production estimated at a record high 36 million bushels by Crop Reporting officials, is the third most important Tar Heel crop with a value of $201.6 million. A whopping 29 per cent increase in acreage harvested for soybeans, plus record smashing prices, more than offset the 1 bushel per acre drop in yield. The average price per bushel of $5.60 was $1.47 above last year's price. A good growing and harve sting season pushed peanut production to a record 465 million pounds and is valued at $77.2 million, versus the 1972 value of $53.7 million a 44 per cent increase.

Washington's REAL birthday. The federal govern-ment decided that Monday is the day, but Perquimans County is sticking to Friday and adding Saturday. The dates of course are Feb. 22 and Feb. 23.

Just as Washington was unable to tell a lie - our merchants can truthfully say that this year's sale is a money-saving opportunity.

important legislation affecting the Albemarle area expected from the 1974 General Assembly.

Senator J.J. (Monk) Harrington said, "I would like to kill the bill but if we can not do that then we want to give the 22 counties involved the authority to pick one man from each county. The 22 man-commission would then work with the governor's committee. In 18 to 22 months you could clean up your own house and let your county commissioners do your work yourselves."

QUARTERLY MEETING—Albemarle Firemen's Association held their quarterly meeting last night at the National Guard Armory in Elizabeth City. High on their agenda was election of new officers for the upcoming year. They are left to right, Carlton Jackson, Edenton, president; Bailey P. Sawyer, Camden,, first vice president; George Owens, Columbia, second vice president; Charles T. Skinner Jr., Hertford, secretary; Dennis W. Swain, Columbia treasurer; Lawrence McInturff, Swan Quarter, chaplain.

The quarterly meeting was hosted by the Elizabeth City Fire Department.

"I don't know whether this will suit Washington or not, and I don't care," he said.

Bill Will Be Supported

Harrington continued, prior to a lengthy debate "We have a bill being studied, a state policy bill. The state seems to think nobody can do anything but them. They haven't given you county commissioners a chance.

Representative Vernon James suggested that there were meetings scheduled in which some amendments could be approved making the bill more palatable to the coastal area but, he did not go into detail.

presented two amendments and said he would not approve the legislation unless they were accepted. One amendment would require the state to purchase all property that the individual could not develop and use under the present coastal bill's regulations. "If your estuarine areas are so important let them pay for them," he said.

The second amendment would require representation from the 22 counties on the coast.

'They should know we are not going to deliberately destroy anything that af-fects our livelihood," the legislator argued.

White indicated that the bill was almost passed in the last General Assembly. "We really didn't know what we were signing. After learning, we killed that thing quick."

A number of public hearings were held concerning the 1973 version of the bill. White indicated the bill's proponents "paid no attention to what you people had requested.

"You go advise them all you want to - then they do as they please," he said.

White, who is serving his first term in the legislature, said he was a commissioner for 10 years. "I feel I know more what my county needs than people in Chapel Hill." The bill as written affects areas 100 miles inland.

A Perquimans County Commissioner, Tuck Webb

made a motion that Region 'R" not support a land use Rep. Stanford White bill. This was seconded, but when the vote was taken only six people agreed there should be no legislation.

Harrington said at this point, "What we need from Raleigh is a plan and a solution and to let you fellows run it."

James said that a bill would be "passed next week. We want to amend the bill to take out as much that objectionable possible."

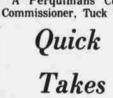

Harrington said, "Everybody agrees plan-ning is needed but they want control at the local level but planning done by the state.'

In a heated exchange a Camden County Commissioner Macon Johnson told Harrington that he should not compromise. "I don't think there ought to be any horse trading. Don't compromise, you depend on us for votes and you may not get elected again."

Harrington replied that he intended to do what he thought was best regardless of whether he got elected or

Farmers Getting

Agriculture has been designated to receive 100 per cent of its fuel needs for 1974. In order to be sure tht each individual farmer receives the amount of fuel he needs, it is necessary that each farmer visit his local supplier of fuel. "This must be done on or before February 22, 1974.", according to Richard Bryant, County Extension Chairman of Perquimans County.

When you visit your local fuel dealer he will help you fill out a certification of the fuel you used in 1972 and your priority needs for 1974. You, the individual farmer must visit your supplier and sign the certification form. If this is not done, then you may find yourself without fuel to farm with in

"Remember the deadline for visiting your local fuel supplier is February 22, 1974. Your dealer needs to know your fuel needs in order to supply you, and to set his allocations.", further states Mr. Bryant.
