On The Street here You Live

I would dare say that every day each person has to write down or give out his address. And if you live in a town or city this address will undoubtedly contain the name of the street that you live on. Streets are peculiar things which have a personality all their own.

A recent trip through Hertford resulted in the discovery of several unique streets. I'm almost sure that out of all the streets in this town, there is bound to be at least one that you've missed.

There are at least two educated streets in Hertford. They are School Drive and Academy Street. Understandably, the first is located beside Perquimans County High School, and the other beside the County Library.

Several avenues and streets seem to have been named after local people. Hertford possesses a Whedbee Drive, Ainsley Avenue. Newby Street, Perry Street, Charles Street, Phelps Street, Saunders Street and Cox Street.

There are roadways whose names are logical. Edenton Road Street is the road which leads to Edenton. Municipal Street is located beside the Municipal Building, and its little brother. Municipal Plant, is the street that leads you to the Ice Plant on those hot summer days.

Two streets located a block from each other seem to be counterparts. These are Sunset Drive and Crescent Drive. Two of ye olde roads seem to have very much to do with this part of the country. Have you seen Carolina Street and

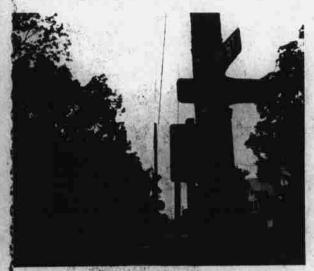

And of course, there is one street unknown to many that has a sweet ring to its name - Gum Street.

And then there's Brace Street which definitely leaves one wondering? Punch Alley is another unusual one, as well as Wynne Fork Road and Balahack Road. And don't forget Willow St.

and Wingfield St. There is Front Street which in days gone by was a busy shipping center of Hertford.

Not all people are so fortunate as to have streets named after them, but that is not the case for Ililda Matthews. The street her florist was once located on is known as Ililda's. Are there others? How about Gaston Dr., Gaither St., Kenyon Dr., Grubb St., Church St., Market St., and Dobbs

And no story on streets in Hertford would be complete without the mention of that ruler of all streets - King

LOGICAL - It seems that after awhile, our forefathers ran out of catchy names as Hertford grew, so the sensible thing to do was name this street after the railroad behind

THIS MAKES SENSE - It's not very difficult to figure out how this street got its name.
