

SOPHOMORE BOYS AT PERQUIMANS HIGH SCHOOL have recently completed a two week hunting safety course sponsored by the Perquimans County Extension Service and N.C. Wildlife Commission. Mr. Wilton Pate, Instructor with the N.C. Wildlife Commission initiated the program with the first session on firearm identification with special emphasis on safety features and safe practices in handling. On Wednesday and Thursday, Mr. Ed Jones, Forestry Specialist with N.C. Extension Service presented a two day demonstration on Archery and safety practices in bow hunting. The students had the opportunity to experience bow handling with practical target shooting. The program continued for a two week period. The Grand finale came at the close of the program when students competed among themselves in a "Skeet Shoot". The "Shoot" was conducted by Mr. Richard Bryant, County Extension Chairman, and Billy Griffin, Jr., County Associate Agricultural Extension Agent, with Perquimans County Extension Service.

Jayvee Pirates Tie Northeastern

The Junior Varsity Pirates took on the 9th grade Northeastern Jayvees last Wednesday at Perquimans High School. Despite outstanding playing by the Pirates, the game ended in a 12-12 tie.

The game quickly got underway with the older and more experienced J.V. Pirates taking the lead. Early in the first period, the J.V. Perquimans team took advantage of their opponents and jumped to a 6-0 lead. The first score of the day was made when Pirate quarterback Melvin Hunter got things hopping with a 35-yard pass to fullback Ernest Wilson who was in the clear. It was a matter of steps for the first touchdown.

With the taste of victory fresh on their lips, the J.V.'s rallied again much to the dismay of the hopeful Yellow Jackets later in the same period. Again, whiz kid Hunter displayed his quarterbacking abilities. Hunter, along with wide receiver Mike Pierce teamed up for a 55-yard pass and run play. Despite aggression on the part of the J.V. Pirates' offensive line, the Junior Yellow Jackets did manage to rally in the second quarter to put the score at 12-6 - Pirates. Then, by the halftime, the Jackets had managed to muster enough power to cross the goal line once more, tying the game up.

Despite the intermission rest and pep talks, by the second half, neither team could start rally and the game ended with the Junior Pirates still aching for a victory, but not feeling the pangs of defeat.

Closer To The People

RALEIGH — Senate candidate Robert Morgan has pledged to open branch offices in various areas of North Carolina after he is elected in order to bring the U.S. Senate office "closer to the people."

"I have a very deep feeling," Morgan said, "that the office I am seeking should be brought closer to the people, and I mean this literally."

"In order to accomplish this, I will, soon after I take office, establish branch offices in various parts of the state so that citizens who have problems or complaints or who want to communicate with their elected senator will be able to do so and do so personally."

Morgan, who won the Democratic primary with a majority vote over none other candidates, said he believes that the establishment of branch offices will "be productive and will enable me to represent North Carolina Better."

County Students At UNC-G

Five students from Perquimans County are among the 8,759 who enrolled this fall at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. They are: Lu Ann Chappell of Belvidere; Belvin R. Eure, Jr. of Rt. 3, Hertford; Charles H. and Linda R. Hoderne of Rt. 4, Hertford; and Martha E. Murray of 210 Market St., Hertford.

Perquimans is among the 95 counties in the state that are represented by students on the UNC-G campus during the current academic year. The five North Carolina counties which do not have students on campus are Camden, Clay, Pamlico, Swain and Tyrrell.

The 8,759 students constitute a new record enrollment at UNC-G. UNC-G Chancellor James S. Ferguson, who released the figures, noted that the University's student body this fall has grown by 11.4 percent over the 7,856 enrollment of one year earlier.

The 11.4 percentage increase is the biggest single enrollment jump in 10 years at UNC-G. Not since 1964, when UNC-G first became coeducational at the undergraduate level, has registration climbed so quickly. That year the student enrollment rose by 13.7 per cent.

Graduate students at UNC-G increased from 2,072 to 2,430. UNC-G has extensive offerings at the master's degree level, and offers doctoral studies in 12 concentrations within six academic departments.

Male enrollment rose sharply this year at UNC-G also. The number of men students now totals 2,726 — or 31 per cent of the student body. That total includes 1,650 undergraduate male students and 1,076 in the Graduate School.

Distaff Deeds

Jelly Making Intrigues Columbus Third Grader

Making her own jams and jellies appeals to Amy Ray, a Columbus County youngster.

Recently Amy looked over the shoulder of Ann Earpe, a 4-H'er enrolled in the canning project, and watched her use a jelly-thermometer to make a clear jelly from frozen stock.

Amy got so interested in what she learned she went home and asked her mother, "May I have the kitchen tonight? I want to make some jelly."

Amy is in the third grade, adds Yvonne B. Ray, home economics extension agent.

PARENTS LEARN
School-age children in Stokes County aren't the only ones going to classes. So are parents and teachers that work with preschoolers in five centers. Among the classes planned by Extension agents for these adult students: "Snacks for Young Folks," "Family Planning," "How an Average Child Behaves at Three to Five Years," and "How To Get Your Child To Do What You Want."

Sometimes the agents teach the classes and sometimes the directors of the child-care centers direct them, adds Mrs. Sue Gentry, associate home economics extension agent.

FLIPPED LIDS

Forty-five Beaufort County women flipped their lids at the home economics extension office last month.

A canner representative gave a demonstration on the hows and whys of using pressure canners and tested more than 60 gauges on lids brought in by local homemakers.
