Praise For Rescue Squad

TO THE EDITOR:

I want to express my deepest appreciation and thanks to one of the most invaluable services this county has — the Perquimans County Rescue Squad.

During the past two weeks, my family has used them twice. For someone who doesn't drive, having them just a phone call away is very reassuring. Two weeks ago, my husband had a kidney attack. They were at my home in a matter of minutes and had us off to the emergency room in no time. A week later I used it again for myself to go to the emergency room. The volunteers of the squad are wonderful people. You don't realize how great they are until you have to use them. I will never forget what they did and want everyone to know how great this service is.

Multiphasic Screening

TO THE EDITOR:

I have just had a Multiphasic Screening Examination done at the Chowan Health Department in Edenton, N.C. and I simply had to write this letter to bring this fantastic offer to as many as may read it. It is one of the finest examinations I have ever had, and I have had a few! Not only are the tests about as complete as one can get, but the kind, pleasant treatment by the Registered Nurses in charge made this a memorable experience for me. No long waiting lines, and being treated as a human being, instead of just one more pound of flesh, removes the strain and tension from this type of examination.

The tests include a complete blood analysis, breathology test, glaucoma, urinalysis, cardiogram, pap and mammary examination, and chest x-ray. In terms of dollars and cents, to have this done in our over-worked hospitals, the cost would be more than the average person could afford, even if your doctor would order the tests. The cost for this screening is $2.00! And all you need to do is call and make your own appointment! The only requirement is that you must be a North Carolina resident. Anyone not taking advantage of this marvelous opportunity should never complain about not being able to afford proper medical advice!

I cannot praise this highly enough and pray this letter brings this Multiphasic Screening idea to your attention, so you too may partake of its benefits.

Aid To New York City?

TO THE EDITOR:

As most people know by now, New York City is almost broke. Its leaders are begging for immediate assistance. Last week in his continuing effort to avoid bankruptcy, Mayor Beame announced drastic reductions in the city's present services. A cut, for example, of 900 policemen was made on top of the 2900 cut earlier.

North Carolina congressmen will decide whether or not to support assistance to New York City. Citizens in turn should inform their congressmen of how they feel.

I have "some" sympathy for New York's problems. Liberalism, however, is written all over its present difficulties.

Interestingly, New York has been the center of much of the media criticism of the South and its way of life. For years we were pictured as backward, ignorant and full of prejudice. Now they want our money.

Harris continues, "Another improvement I feel we need now is a new fire station, for we are fortunate in having such a fine fire department. Along this line, a central dispatcher for the police, fires, rescue, and sheriff's department would be a step in the right direction."

"I do hope the medical facilities talked about some time ago, will soon become a reality, with the acquisition of one or two more doctors. And I shall continue to work toward obtaining an industry that employs primarily men. I believe in progress and I'll do what I can to achieve these goals."

PHARMACY NEWS

The naked chicken is out to get you!

It's midnight in the barnyard. You're alone. Then (gasps!) out jumps the spookiest goblin you've ever seen. He's featherless and glistens ghost-like against the pale moon.

Seriously, it could happen — and did in laboratories where a new chicken was developed which gains extra weight in place of feathers. This naked bird has the temperament of an irritable goblin. He dashes about furiously to keep warm. Without feathers to grip, mating is pure frustration. Worst of all, these featherless critters go absolute bananas at the sight of blood. They turn cannibalistic and their nakedness exposes the least little pecking order scratch. So, Halloweenists, beware of "naked chickens!"

Halloween Sense: Warn children to watch for malicious pranks by older kids, suspicious handouts, and poorly lighted steps and doorways.

VOTE for MATTIE R. (Pete) BROUGHTON for TOWN COMMISSIONER

I make this request to you as a voter of the Town of Hertford because I believe Mrs. Broughton is well qualified to fill this position.

For nearly fourteen years she was employed as assistant city clerk and during this time worked with three Mayors. Her duties consisted of keeping up with all phases of the financial operations of the Town of Hertford as well as receiving funds for utilities and taxes.

Since leaving the Town Office as an employee she has retained her interest and concern of the operations of this office and now desires to become a part of the administration.

I sincerely believe Mrs. Broughton is as well qualified to become a member of the Town Council as any of the incumbents or candidates.

Your consideration and vote for Mrs. Broughton on November 4th. will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely Yours,
Henry C. Sullivan
