Completes tour

Miss Jean O. Gibbs, daughter of Mrs. Rosa B. Gibbs of Hertford, has returned to her home in Woodside, N.Y. after joining 41 other counselors from northern and eastern states in a tour of 12 colleges.

MISS JEAN O. GIBBS

Miss Gibbs represented Copiague School in Long Island in the state of New Hampshire on the tour.

Report updated on Heart Fund

The following corrections and additions are made to the release on fund raising for the Heart Fund reported in the March 30 issue of The Perquimans Weekly: Leigh's Temple reported $10 instead of $10. Winslow-Nicanor reported $29.55 instead of Winslow Grove. Whiteston Extension Homemakers Club reported $50 by Mrs. Annie Mae Baker, volunteer.

Galatia Baptist Church reported $10. The total raised for the county was $1,001.74 and the total reported for the town and county together was $1,853.23. However, the business donations are not included in these totals. Mrs. M.B. Taylor, Home Economics Extension Agent, joins Mrs. Marion Swindell in thanking all participants who helped to make this drive a success.

Homemakers meet

"Stain Removing" was the topic for the program at the Whiteston Homemakers Club meeting held Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Stallings. Mrs. Paige Underwood demonstrated treating various soils and gave a list of household products that can be used to remove stains. Along with the many suggestions she gave, the members shared their experiences with soils and what they did to remove them. Mrs. Myrna Wilson gave the devotion based on Revelations in her talk, "When We See Jesus." The treasurer, Virginia White, reported the club's collection of $50 for the Heart Fund. Members were urged to attend the district meeting at Knobbs Creek Recreational Center beginning at 10 a.m. on April 18. The May 12 bazaar to be held on the courthouse lawn was also discussed and will be considered in more detail at the May meeting. A short report on Achievement Day was given. Three members received perfect attendance certificates: Virginia White, Annie Mae Baker, and Evie Dale. Mrs. Stallings, the hostess, showed two quilts, one she had just finished. The meeting closed with the collect.

Places in contest

RICHARD SKINNER

Richard Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skinner Jr. of Hertford, has been declared third place winner in the statewide 4-H Traffic Safety Poster Contest. Skinner's poster was entered in the area of pedestrian safety. He will receive a bicycle, speedometers and maintenance kits for the distinction. And during the Fall Achievement program, he will receive a trophy as county winner in the contest. Active in 4-H club work, Skinner is president of the Pioneer 4-H Club. His 4-H projects have included You and Your Dog, Junior Leadership, Recreation, and Leisure Education I. His 4-H club leaders are Mrs. Dina Hurdle and Miss Linda Grieve.

Taking a look backward

TO DRAW STRAWS FOR JOB AS LIFE GUARD AT LOCAL BEACH: Clarke Stokes and Charlie Ford Summer III will draw straws for the job of lifeguard to the local beach this summer. It was decided at a meeting of the town council Monday night. The two young men submitted the only applications for the summer job, and since both are equally capable and qualified as lifeguards, the straw-drawing seemed like the fairest method. The one who gets the long-straw will get the job... or visa versa.

business began back when freight boats previously navigated the narrows of upper Perquimans River in order to carry the essentials of life to Belvidere. At 30 years of age, he was in the mercantile business in Belvidere. For awhile, he was postmaster there. Two boats made the run to Belvidere from Hertford.

"One of them," Hollowell remembers, "was so big it couldn't turn around until it backed up the river a ways." At the present, with the election coming on, the head of Hollowell Chevrolet Company is more in the public eye than usual for Hollowell is chairman of the county board of elections. ATTEND GAME: Among Hertford people who attended the N.Y. Giants-Cleveland Indians baseball game in Tarboro on Wednesday were: A.W. Hefren, Claude White, Carroll Berry, and Charlie Skinner.

Prescriptions are monitored

Physicians and Pharmacists work together in all phases of medicine to assure that patients get well faster by using their drugs as intended. One area of particular significance is clinical pharmacy, where hospital pharmacists closely monitor patient drug therapy prescribed by Physicians. Here at your own Independent Pharmacy we, too, closely monitor the drugs you take. When a patient refuses his drug for whatever reason, he's only short-changing his own health. My professional advice is to make every effort to fill your prescription and then take as directed. Thank you for reading our weekly editorials. We appreciate your interest.

NEW BOOKS

- Bloodline* by Sidney Sheldon author of The Other Side of Midnight pits the beautiful heiress to a pharmaceutical empire against forces trying to kill her and destroy the company. (1 best seller)
- The Plague Dogs* by Richard Adams is one of the finest adult animal stories in years. Two laboratory dogs utilized for a variety of experiments escape and are hunted through the countryside when they are suspected of carrying plague. The animals are portrayed as thinking, knowing creatures who cannot understand their treatment.
- Love, Lords, and Lady-Birds* by Barbara Cartland is a romantic story of a young girl's introduction into society after years in private schools.
- The Passion and the Flower* by Barbara Cartland is a tale of love between a Russian prince and a dancer he meets in Paris.
- Rolande* by Clare Darcy is a Regency novel in which an actress who normally plays boys' roles on stage tries to avert a swindle by portraying a male heir to a large fortune.
- Shadows on our Skin* by Jennifer Johnston is a novel about a 12-year old boy growing up in terror ridden Northern Ireland and the physical and psychological scars left on the children of that country.
- The Ends of Power* by H.R. Haldeman is an account of the Watergate affair as seen by Richard Nixon's Chief-of-Staff in the White House.

Leisure show continues

The First Annual Leisure Living Show will be held at Southgate Mall in Elizabeth City beginning April 12 and continuing through April 15.
