Free seedlings available

The N.C. Forest Service will provide free pine seedling again this year.

Available are Red Cedar, Loblolly, Virginia and Longleaf Pines which can be picked up at Winfall Tower.

These seedlings can soon provide shade in the summer and wind protection in the winter, as well as add beauty to your yard all year.

Now is the time to plant. For further information on the seedlings contact Mark Williams or David Roberts at 426-5551.

Heart Association campaign

Pete Overman, Business Day Chairman for the Perquimans County Heart Association announces that they are planning a 24-Hour Blith for their Business Day Campaign this year in early February.

Funds generated will support vital research programs at universities such as UNC and Duke and developing life-saving programs in North Carolina through the American Heart Association.

When a volunteer for the American Heart Association calls on you, please give generously, remembering that these volunteers are part of a very important network of more than two million Americans volunteering to save one very important life...your life!

Financial courses offered

Those who wish to become chartered Life Underwriters will be offered a financial services course beginning February 4 at College of the Albemarle sponsored by the college continuing education division. Matthew Ahearn, local general life insurance agent, will teach the sixteen-week course which will run from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. each Tuesday until May 20 in C-208 at the college.

Co-sponsored by the Northeastern Association of Life Underwriters, "Financial Services for Chartered Life Underwriters" introduces students to the financial planning process. It is the first in a series of related courses which leads to the professional designation of Chartered Financial Consultant. Ahearn has achieved both designations.

The course is open to licensed Life insurance agents, CPA's, attorneys, and other professionals engaged in financial and estate planning. Fee for the course is $10. For additional information, contact Ahearn at 338-3141 or Gene Chory at 335-0696.

Weekly joins classified ad network

The Perquimans Weekly has joined a new classified ad network which has been introduced in North Carolina to allow advertisers to reach more than 3,000,000 readers with a single classified ad.

The Statewide Classified Program began Jan. 1 and provides a special $150-rate for a 25-word classified ad to be printed in all participating newspapers.

North Carolina is the 28th state in the nation to offer a Statewide Classified ad program to advertisers. Neighboring states, such as Tennessee, Georgia and Virginia, already have the program underway.

More than 120 newspapers have joined the network, boosting total circulation to over 1.4 million.

Advertisers may purchase the classified ad for $150 from any participating newspaper's classified advertising department or through North Carolina Press Services—the N.C. Press Association's newly formed marketing subsidiary.

The North Carolina program was developed and coordinated by the North Carolina Press Association, North Carolina Press Services and Lewis Finch, N.C. Press Services' Director of Marketing.
