Basnight presented a North Carolina Flag to a student representative of each of the county schools. The flag presentation was part of a $40,000 state appropriation that will furnish state flags to public school systems throughout the state.

In his remarks to the gathering, Basnight stressed the importance of the Basic Education Plan that is now being tested through pilot programs including the local school system. He stated that the program does a lot for the individual child in the classroom. "We're saying things for education now that haven't been said in the past," Basnight said.

He also spoke in favor of a House Bill for a one-half-cent sales tax increase to be returned to each county for school facility improvements.

"We need adequate assembly rooms to hold all of our students at once," he said, adding that these types of facilities promote unity.

In presenting the flags to the schools, Basnight gave a brief history of the North Carolina Flag, stating it's importance in the state's heritage. "I'm proud of it (the flag), and I hope you are too," he said.

Following the presentation Hertford Grammar School Principal Bill Tice gave his school's flag to a North Carolina National Guard Flag Detail, who in turn raised the flag on the front lawn of the school.

The Flag Detail were members of HHC, Ahoskie, and Company "C" of Elizabeth City and Edenton. The members were SFC Gene Davis, SGT Larry Wimberly, SGT Edgar Lewis, SGT David Ambrose and SP4 Keith Serson. All are members of the 1st BN 119th Infantry (M).

Rotarians sponsor contest

More than $12,500 in cash will be awarded the international winner of a "Letters for Peace" contest being conducted by Rotary International. In this area, the contest is sponsored by Rotarians of Hertford.

Students ages 14 through 18 may enter the contest by writing a letter to a recognized world leader expressing their ideas about furthering world peace.

Letters may be from 450 to 600 words in length and must contain specific positive suggestions about how peace might be strengthened. Ideas may apply to humanitarian efforts, politics, economics, religion, the arts, or any other field of action.

Clubs are offering prizes to winners of their contests. Additional awards include 1,000 from the Rotary District 771 Foundation to the District 771 winner, $1,500 to the regional winner, and $10,000 plus a trip for two to Epcot, Walt Disney World, for the International winner.

Students wishing to enter the contest should contact their nearest Rotary Club. The 55 Rotary Clubs of District 771 have until April 1 to submit their winning entries to the district judges.

District Governor Bill Stone of Raleigh said he is excited about the impact the "Letters for Peace" contest will have on young people.

Zebulon printer Barrie Davis, a Past Governor of District 771, is district contest chairman.
