Perquimans band students named to All-District

Twelve Perquimans County Band students have been selected for the North Carolina Bandmaster All District Bands. Locally the district is made up of all junior and senior high schools in Eastern North Carolina.

In the Senior High Symphonic Band, Lee Cooper, a french hornist, was selected. Lee is a sophomore at Perquimans County High School.

In the Senior High concert Band, Tonya Walker, a senior, was selected on clarinet; Lynnette Riddick, a junior, was selected on clarinet. David Johnson, a senior, was selected on french horn; Jeff Cartwright, a sophomore, was selected on Trombone, and Mabelle Davis, a sophomore, was selected on Percussion.

In the Junior High (grades 8 & 9th) Symphonic Band, Anita Whidbee, a freshman, was selected on clarinet; Tim Bryum, a freshman, was selected on Baritone Saxophone; Scott Winslow, a freshman, was selected on snare drum, and Tracie Brown, a freshman, on mallet percussion.

In the Junior High Concert Band, Cornelius Mack, a freshman, was selected on trumpet, and Chip Chappell, an eighth grade student at Perquimans Union School, on snare drum.

All of these students will take part in a band clinic in Greenville at the ECU School of Music on February 7th and 8th. A concert will be given on Saturday night before retaining home.

Two of these students, placed FIRST on their instruments in the District try out and will go on to try out for the North Carolina Honors Band in March. They are Tim Bryum on Baritone Saxophone and Tracie Brown on mallet percussion.

DEPTH PERCEPTION

Because the eyes are set about two and one-half inches apart, each retina receives a slightly different image. You can readily see this if you place your finger eight inches in front of your nose, close one eye at a time and watch your finger change its apparent position. Deep within the brain there are special cells which match the offset images from the two eyes to yield the sense of depth.

To maintain this system, very precise and intricate alignment of the eyes is necessary. There are six muscles which control the focus of each eye. Horizontally, the alignment must be within a few degrees; vertically, even less. The very narrow range of the vertical alignment explains why people with one eye sighting slightly higher than the other experience difficulties, and may even see double. You can appreciate the importance of testing this faculty during an eye examination.
