Dates set for AADA awards

Attention Community Groups in Perquimans County! If you are civic or service organization that conducts projects which contribute to the betterment of the community, you have the opportunity to participate in the 1986 Annual Albemarle Area Development Association Recognition and Awards program.

The winning organizations receive cash awards for competition in adult and youth divisions. The adult competition has two sections: Civic and rural community with 1st place $150.00 cash award, 2nd place $100.00 and 3rd place $50.00 for each category. Youth awards are identical for first, second, and third places. The competitive aspect of the program stimulates members to take more pride in their organization and community.

The AADA is a volunteer citizens organization which has been in existence for 18 years. It is recognized by county and municipal governments and receives program support from the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service. Its purpose is to promote the overall development of the 10-county area. Participation is free to any community organization and there is not obligation to any participating group. Participating groups will have the opportunity to present a display depicting their recent projects at the annual awards banquet, where winners will be recognized.

Applications may be secured from the Perquimans County Extension Service and must be returned by October 15, 1986 to Mary C. Harrell, Chairman of the Community Development Committee—Chamber of Commerce Office—Hertford, N.C.

Students can expect increase in tuition

ELIZABETH CITY—Students attending College of The Albemarle this fall will pay more tuition. The increase was approved during the General Assembly's short session and will become effective on August 1.

"This is the first time since 1983 that tuition has risen for our in-state and out-of-state students," said John Simmons, Jr., COA dean of student development. He said tuition costs for in-state residents will go from $51 per quarter to $66, with out-of-state rates almost doubling from $255 to $504 per quarter.

Simmons said attending institutions in North Carolina's community college system still appears to be the best educational bargain in the nation. "In the fall of 1985, the average annual tuition charge at 970 public community, technical, and junior colleges across the country was $660," he explained. "Even with the increase this fall, our annual tuition for in-state residents remains under $200."

The dean said the new rates are not reflected in the latest Fall Quarter curriculum class schedules that are distributed as supplements to area newspapers prior to each registration period.

"The schedules were printed a week before the increase was approved," Simmons said, "and we received the new figures too late to include in the coming quarter schedules."

The cost of enrolling in courses offered by the college Continuing Education Division also was affected by the legislation. Beginning August 1, occupational and academic courses will be increased from $10 to $15 per course; practical skills courses from $15 to $20; and avocational courses from $19 to $25 per course.
