

Corn forecast higher

Hot dry weather across the Tar Heel State during September favored fall harvest operations but hampered development of late crops according to the North Carolina Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Flue-cured tobacco production in North Carolina is forecast at 449.9 million pounds, down fractionally from a month earlier and 16 percent less than last year's crop of 538 million pounds. The yield per acre is expected to average 2045 pounds compared with 2223 pounds in 1985. Production forecasts by areas compared with previous month and previous year are as follows: Type 11 (old and middle Belt) 153.6 million pounds, same as previous month but down 21 percent from last year; Type 12 (Eastern Belt) 237.6 million pounds, same as previous forecast but 13 percent less than a year ago; Type 13 (Border Belt) 58.8 million pounds, down 1 percent from previous forecast and down 15 percent from last year's production.

Burley tobacco is forecast at 15.2 million pounds, up 5 percent from the earlier forecast but down 19 percent from last year.

Corn production in the State is forecast at 91 million bushels, up 8 percent from the previous month's forecast but down 29 percent from last year's crop. Farmers are getting better yields than expected earlier, primarily in the Coastal Plains counties where summer drought was not as severe as in the remainder of the State. The yield per acre is expected to average 67 bushels, 5 bushels more than last month's forecast but 12 bushels below last year. Harvest had reached 77 percent completion by October 5.

Soybean production is forecast at 36.8 million bushels, unchanged from the September forecast but 6 percent less than the 1985 crop of 39.1 million bushels.

Pastors learn to care for sick

A Clinical Pastoral Training course is currently being taught to 17 area ministers at Chowan Hospital in Edenton. The ministers are from Chowan, Perquimans, Camden, Bertie, and Gates Counties. Sponsored by the hospital through its chaplains' program and the Chowan Baptist Association, the 10 week course is being taught by the Rev. Donald Wagner, pastor of Rocky Hock Baptist Church.

The course is designed to aid ministers in the pastoral care of persons who are ill and their families. The objectives include familiarization with the hospital and its personnel, increased competence in providing pastoral care to the patient and the family, and the development of skills in referral.

Recognizing the importance of the role of the minister in the overall health care plan for its patients, the hospital offers a continuing education program each year for its chaplains and area ministers. There are currently 26 ministers in the hospital's chaplains' program.

Local speedway results

ROCKINGHAM, NC—During the years of 1981, 1982, and 1985, Darrell Waltrip used the October 500-mile race at North Carolina Motor Speedway as a stepping stone to the NASCAR Winston Cup Championship by scoring victories.

Come Sunday, Waltrip will be viewing the Naitonwise 500 more as a life jacket to stay afloat in the championship showdown with Dale Earnhardt, who leads the defending champion by 159 points. That is the heaviest advantage any driver has held at this point—three races from the end—since Cale Yarborough won in 1978.

Yarborough, in the throes of his worst year since 1966 when he went winless in 14 outings, is among the Who's, Who list of famous drivers winless this year.

March of Dimes launches campaign

WHITE PLAINS, NY—The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation is launching a national campaign to prevent birth defects caused by substance abuse during pregnancy.

"The physical and mental damage done to babies in the womb by mothers who use illicit drugs is devastating," said Charles L. Massey, March of Dimes President. "No less tragic are the birth defects caused by alcohol, tobacco and even over-the-counter drugs taken by pregnant women without the knowledge of their physicians."

The prenatal care campaign's title, "Mommy...Don't," reflects the preventive actions—don't take-unprescribed drugs, don't drink, don't smoke—that the March of Dimes wants all pregnant women to take for their own health and their babies' health.

The yearlong campaign will begin November 12th with a national day of awareness in Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, D.C., and other major cities.

In its first phase, the campaign will focus on the use of drugs during pregnancy. Later phases will concentrate on the harmful effects of alcohol and tobacco used by pregnant women and the need for early and regular prenatal care.

"People are greatly concerned today with the damage drugs do to our communities in general," Massey said. "But what many people don't realize is how serious the consequences can be for the baby in the womb of a mother who uses drugs."

Farm Bureau questions rep.

The state's largest general farm organization has taken exception to U.S. Trade Representative Clayton K. Yeutter's recent assertion that the end of the Japanese cigarette tariff is "good news" for all tobacco interests.

In a letter to Yeutter, W.B. Jenkins, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, questioned the trade official for saying that tobacco growers should be "ecstatic" about the action by the Japanese government to eliminate its tariff on U.S. cigarettes.

Jenkins said growers selling tobacco the week after Yeutter's announcement found a substantially weaker market, both in buyer purchases and price. "As a result of the week's marketing experience, the portion of gross sales placed under loan for the season increased to 5.2 percent and the average price fell to $153.43 per hundredweight," Jenkins said. "There were reports of grade prices being off by $6.00 to $15.00 per hundredweight during that week."

The Farm Bureau president growers "are finding it difficult to accept the fact that the weaker market was a coincidence."

Several months ago, Japan Tobacco Incorporated announced its plan to purchase 100 million pounds of U.S. flue-cured tobacco from the 1986 crop. "Today, we are uncertain of their plans to fulfill that purchase intention," Jenkins said. Many growers have voiced concerns that an increase in the U.S. share of cigarette sales to Japan because of the elimination of the tariff will reduce that country's need to purchase U.S. leaf tobacco.

Jenkins noted that Japan has traditionally been a buyer of top quality tobacco at premium prices. He said if Japan reduces its purchases of U.S. leaf, it could substantially increase the portion of the U.S. crop going under loan and will impact on producer income.
