Misses Story Hour Party

Have you ever missed your own birthday party? Well, that's what happened to Manning Huske.

Manning and his mother decided to surprise the story hour group and celebrate Manning's birthday at the regular meeting on Wednesday morning at the library.

When the day arrived Manning was too sick to go out so his mother sent the lovely refreshments, favors and all, over to the children. There were 18 present and all had a wonderful time. We wish Manning many more birthday parties, and hope he will be able to attend those in the future.

Mrs. L. G. Scott and Mrs. Earl Stewart had charge of the story hour, in the absence of Mrs. Charles Hannah and Mrs. Charles Isley, who were out of town.

A tempting supper plate with coffee was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Katharine Jarvis.
