

SEASON'S GREETINGS

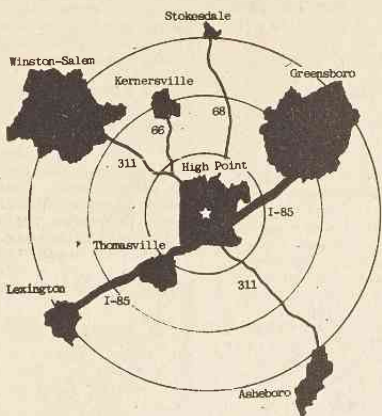

THE TRIBUNAL AID

Serving Guilford, Forsyth, Davidson and Randolph Counties

VOLUME II, NO. 31

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1974

15 CENTS PER COPY - $5.00 PER YEAR

"Tell It Like It Is"

Local Minister Gains Recognition

HIGH POINT - With honor and commendation the members of First Emmanuel Baptist Church of High Point gave praise to their beloved pastor and his lovely and devoted wife on Sunday, November 17.

It was the commemoration of their 36th anniversary. Because of the fine and commendable service Rev. D.D. Mason has given to his church and community, THE TRIBUNAL AID is honored and happy to publish their written word.

We, the officers and members of the First Emmanuel Baptist Church of High Point, N.C., are happy to honor our Beloved Pastor, The Rev. D.D. Mason and his wife, Mrs. Lizzie Mason. □

Rev. Mason is a widely known Minister, who has gained the respect of both men and women, boys and girls, blacks and whites throughout the city.

Since coming to us in the 1939, our Pastor and his wife have done very outstanding work in the church, as well as in our community.

Under their leadership, 2 choirs, 3 chorus, 4 usher boards, 1 nursery board, the B.T.U. and a Missionary Society consisting of nine circles have been organized. 12 Ministers have been ordained. Our present church was built in 1958 and we have taken in approximately 1300 new members since 1939. We have out-grown that Sanctuary and our new Sanctuary was completed October, 1972. We also have 2 licensed Ministers.

Rev. & Mrs. Mason always remember the sick and shut-ins by visiting their homes and the hospital every Wednesday and Saturday nights. And on many occasions, when our hearts are saddened, they speak comforting words to us. When our burdens become heavy, they always bear them with us.

Rev. D. D. Mason

The doctor ministers to the sick body, the lawyer takes care of legal matters, the teacher develops the mental capacities, but the minister deals with the whole man in that he plays the greatest role on earth.

We pride ourselves because of his high calling and ideal standards he sets for us and the community. We are glad to call him our Pastor.

We have been looking forward to this well deserved Anniversary. To us this is a great occasion because our leader is truly worthy of this special effort on our part to make him happy; and to let him know that we deeply appreciate the very fine services he has rendered our church and community at large.

He has done all in his power to give us spiritual guidance. No doubt there have been times when physically, he felt unable to carry on...but he did not stop...no, he never failed to bring burning messages

Bennett College Receives Grant

GREENSBORO, N.C. - Bennett College has received a grant of $53,421 from the Federal Environmental Protection Agency for an experiment in removal dyes from textile waste.

Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who with Dr. Allison Maggiolo, both Bennett College chemistry professors, will carry out the project, said the experiment involves filtering the wastes through resin.

"The major problem of the textiles industry is pollution of streams by industrial dye waste," Dr. Sayles pointed out. "Previous work in the laboratory has shown the potential application of exchange resins to be a feasible

WSSU Increases Fees

WINSTON-SALEM - The Winston-Salem State University Board of Trustees which met on December 17 has recommended an increase in student fees for 1975-1976. The net increase in charges for both in-state and out-of-state students would be $116.00 for boarding students and $43.00 for day students. Total charges for in-state students would be $1524.00 - boarding students and $560-day students. Charges Continued on Page 2

HAPPY CHRISTMAS GREETINGS to all says lovely Fayetteville State University [N C] coed Alma Hooker. A native of Raleigh, N.C., Alma is a psychology major from Raleigh, N.C. and is a freshman.

From The GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS

Commissioner Barbee Killed In Car Wreck

Newly elected Guilford County Commissioner Mrs. Zoe Parks Barbee was killed Monday evening in an automobile crash in Durham County.

According to highway patrol sources, Mrs. Barbee died instantly around 6:50 p.m. at an intersection on U.S. 15-501 about one-tenth of a mile south of Durham.

Trooper William D. Stallings said Mrs. Barbee was traveling from Greensboro to Durham, via Chapel Hill, when she failed to exit properly on her way into Durham.

The trooper said she continued to another exit and was turning back onto the highway's northbound lane when her car was struck by a pickup truck being operated by Charles Leigh Worthington of 2913 Gretmar St. in Durham.

Stallings said, "There was a stop sign at that point. The boy driving the truck said she stopped, but then drove right out in front of him."

Mrs. Barbee, 44 and a resident of Rt. 1, McLeansville, died immediately when her 1971 model auto was struck on the driver's side. Her body was taken to Scarborough Funeral Home in Durham.

Mrs. Zoe Barbee

Two passengers traveling in the Barbee auto suffered only slight injuries. They were Deborah E. Williams, 21, of Durham, and Irene L. Chavis, 15, of 1419 Huffine Mill Road in Greensboro.

The young women were taken to the emergency ward of Duke University Medical Center after the crash. Both Worthington and a passenger, Donald Yates Haigler of Durham, escaped injury.

The crash marked a tragic end to a career rich in accomplishment and cultural interest, and one turning toward politics during the last four years.

Mrs. Barbee, a native of East Orange, N.J., claimed a seat on the county commission last November after missing in a previous attempt. A Democrat, she had made history by simultaneously becoming the first black woman to win a seat on the board.

And in joining a massive sweep for the Democratic ticket in the recent election, Mrs. Barbee led the ticket. She polled 24,759 votes, outdistancing fellow low Democrats Gaston Faison and Bob Laedreth.

Faison, elected chairman by his fellow board members, com-

Christmas Party At Patterson Ave. YMCA

WINSTON-SALEM - The Patterson Avenue YMCA gave its annual Christmas Party last Saturday, December 21, to approximately 250 boys. All boys received a bag of gifts and a luncheon. Pictured above is Lt. R. Jeffrey Hoover, Donald Grant, Santa (Sweet T), and Joseph Grant.

WHAT'S IN SIDE
Editorials
Entertainment
Features
Sports

"We must give our children a sense of pride in being black. The glory of our past and the dignity of our present must lead the way to the power of our future."

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL