

FUTURE OUTLOOK

VOL. I. NO. 31

GREENSBORO, N. C., SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1942

PRICE: 5c

Short Biographical Sketch of Governor J. M. Broughton

Full name: Joseph Broughton Broughton.
 Born in Raleigh, N. C. November 17, 1888. Son of the late J. M. Broughton, and Sally Harris Broughton, and nephew of the late Nedburn M. Broughton.
 Attended public schools of Raleigh for the High School Academy in Raleigh.
 Graduated at Wake Forest college in 1910, with A. B. degree.
 Principal of Buah high school, Franklin county, 1910-1912.
 Reporter on staff of Winston-Salem Journal during spring and summer of 1912.
 Special course in law at Harvard Law School, 1912-13.
 Law practice continuously since 1914.
 Chairman of the executive committee of Wake county, 1914-1916.
 President Raleigh Chamber of Commerce 1918.

City Attorney for Raleigh, 1921-24.
 Member of State Senate from Wake county, 1927 and 1930.
 President Wake County Bar association, 1933.
 President North Carolina Bar association, 1936.
 Keynote speaker Democratic state convention, 1938.
 Elected at large (Presidential) 1939 election.
 Member of board of trustees of Wake Forest college since 1918, and of board of trustees of Olivia Roney public library, Raleigh, since 1920.
 Superintendent Tabernacle Baptist Sunday school of Raleigh since 1913; teacher of Men's Bible class in that church for last 15 years.
 Married in December 1916, to Miss Alice H. Willson of Raleigh. Four children.
 Elected governor of North Carolina November, 1940; inaugurated January 9, 1941.

"America Be Strong Day" At Bennett College

Governor Broughton To Be There

Plans are in the making for "America Be Strong Day" at Bennett College July 12, with such dignitaries as Governor J. M. Broughton, Mayor W. H. Sullivan, and an Ohio senator plus a 50-100 voice choir, to be recruited from the various church choirs and choral groups of the city, under the direction of Mr. F. M. Gatlin, of the Bennett College music department.

Bennett college, ever alert, gears its program to meet current problems, so that for the past three weeks, potential home-makers, teachers, social workers and nurses have been studying techniques for social action which will prepare them to better safeguard the home front. This huge rally will come as a culminating activity of the Bennett college summer institute which emphasized child health and community leadership.

Today more than ever America needs conscientious, unselfish, efficient leaders to help keep her balance and to maintain the values her forefathers have willed her. The home front, just as important in every sense as the war front, must be preserved at all cost. Beginning with the children, a more determined effort to guide them into the right channels is necessary, for if the children of the nation are neglected, as they seem sadly in danger of being, then as Dorothy Dix says, the nation will be saved for a gang of hoodlums with no appreciation for the worthwhile things of life.

The wholehearted participation in the program of ministers and their congregations, schools, social, civic and political organizations, and every citizen of Greensboro, and surrounding vicinities is being sought as a means of maintaining the high morale necessary for a victory at home and abroad.

Asa Sims, Garden Club Specialist, Speaks At A. & T.

Greensboro, N. C.—The spirit of beautification is contagious, and once one starts beautifying his garden, he also begins beautifying his home, school and other objects around him, declared Asa Sims, garden club specialist, Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., who spoke in the initial meeting of the Garden club institute at A. and T. College last week.

The institute held its meetings from June 29 to July 1, during which time it held meetings at A. and T. College, Jonesboro School and Shiloh Baptist church, with Mr. Sims and Harold Williams, of the department of horticulture, Hampton Institute, conducting.

The institute was welcomed to A. and T. College by Dr. E. D. Biford, president, who stressed the need for more beautification activities. Angie Tyson sang a solo, Mrs. H. D. Brower, chairman of the committee for state organization, traced the history and progress of garden clubs in the state, and stressed the need that the clubs should essentially be self-help organizations.

Speaking on "Points to Observe in Judging Gardens," Sims named three vital points: Location of flowers, the framing of flowers and the arrangement of them. For judging general landscaping, he enumerated five essential observations: the framing of the landscape with trees; the presence of walks and drives leading to the house; the arrangement and variety of shrubs; the enclosure of the flower bed, and the open lawn.

Mr. Williams enumerated some steps in a five year beautification plan which were as follows: The making of a blueprint of the yard; the propagation of woody plants early; the necessity of starting on the lawn in the fall; and the maintenance of the project after it has nearly matured.

The highlight of the institute was (Continued On Page Eight)

Mr. Mitchell Speaks At A. & T. College

Greensboro—Students and faculty of A. and T. College heard three interesting programs which were presented at the college last week.

John W. Mitchell, Negro state farm agent, who spoke at the college on Monday, June 22, said that one of our greatest needs is that of nutrition for health and efficiency.

Mr. Mitchell said, "No problem has been solved when the lesson is taught that malnutrition exists. Take action, do something to supply the needed vitamins, proteins, fats and other food elements necessary for good nutrition."

He emphasized that the solution must be carried into the practical and not be left in the theory stage; that it is a joint program for teachers, extension workers and other agencies, and that it is a program in which "we have ample opportunity to work together shoulder to shoulder."

A musical program of variety and color was heard Tuesday on occasion of a concert by the Deep River singers, who appeared as the second in a series of seven numbers being presented at the college this summer.

The program included plantation songs, work songs, semi-classics; and (Continued On Page Six)

Rites for Miss Gilmer Held At High Street Church

MISS EDNA S. GILMER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilmer, died at her home, 204 North Street, Greensboro, on Friday, June 27, 1942, at her home, 204 North Street. Funeral was conducted at the High Street Methodist church, Greensboro, on Saturday, July 4, 1942.

American Civilian Must Get Materials To Fighting Men

Greensboro.—That is the responsibility of every American civilian to see to it that the soldiers of democracy have the necessary equipment to carry the war to a successful conclusion was the opinion expressed by J. Whitten, of the United States department at A. and T. College last week.

The speaker exhorted members of the summer school to see to it that citizens of their immediate communities fulfill their responsibilities to the war effort by urging them to buy war bonds and stamps. He reminded the audience that the government has suggested that all persons invest 10 per cent of their earnings in bonds and stamps and warned them that this suggestion could easily be made compulsory.

Whitten said that while making the summer school program, he had in mind the fact that the summer school is a time when the

Metropolitan Trio Appears At A. and T. College

Greensboro.—Faculty and student body of the A. and T. College summer school heard an exceptional musical program when the Metropolitan Trio appeared at the college Thursday, July 2.

With the playing of "Allegro con Brio" by Brahms, which opened the program, it could be readily seen that these musicians were masters of their respective instruments, the violin, the piano and the cello. The program was heartily applauded by the audience.

Walter Piasetti, cellist, played Wieniawski's "Scherzo Tarentello," Thomas Richmond, pianist, played "Toccata" and "Sonata" by Liszt, and Virginia Spalding, violinist, played "La Campanella." Other numbers on the program were "Pavane" by Handel, "Lied" by Kreisler, "Prelude for Mrs. Habanera" by Ravel and "Trio in D minor" by Mendelssohn.

The Metropolitan Trio was a bonus to the local football team, a group of players offered fresh ice cream cones.

Rebecca Compton Injured When Cut With Knife

Condition Regarded As Serious Saturday

Rebecca Compton, Negro woman, 297 1/2 North Gilmer street, was in a serious condition today at L. Richardson Memorial hospital with a knife-wound near her heart, and Ida Mae Byrd, 203 1/2 North Gilmer, is being held in city jail for investigation in connection with the cutting which allegedly took place at 207 1/2 North Gilmer.

Police reported that the Compton woman suffered a cut about four inches long under the heart, and hospital attendants said her condition is serious.

Glenn Donnell, 243 West Whittington street, was dismissed from L. Richardson Memorial after receiving emergency treatment for abdominal wounds, allegedly inflicted with a knife in the hands of Laura Hazel Simpson, 918 Gibson street.

The Simpson woman was arrested (Continued On Page Six)

Nocho Pool Features Classes In Swimming

W. S. C. S. Conference Convened At Bennett

It was announced today by Harry K. Parker, assistant director of recreation, in charge of Negro division of the Recreation commission, that an intense program of learn-to-swim activities will be featured at the Nocho Park Pool at the Windsor Community center for the remainder of the summer. It was stated that many members of the community have voiced the need for Negro citizens learning to swim, thereby increasing their interest and attendance in the water activities at the Nocho Park Pool. The learn-to-swim campaign will begin July 7. Registration classes is now going on and will close until July 7. The organization of the classes for all skills of swimmers, will be under the direction of Robert Poole, water master, and will be held at the Windsor Community Center, 1000 Acapach road, and H. S. C. S. Conference (Continued On Page Six)