L. Troxler in the Glenwood section. Chief of Police L. L. Jarvis will direct a drive by which members of the department will look for scrap materials wherever they go on their rounds, and Fire Chief Frank D. Shaw will direct a similar campaign through his department. Through George W. Other appointments are to be made as the organization is put into shape for the drive, Dempsey said, and extensive efforts have been assured in making the campaign a success.

Vital scrap materials needed for the war effort include not only iron and steel, but rubber, copper, brass, bronze, zinc, aluminum, lead and old rags, as well as strained kitchen grease.

College Women To Take Over War Jobs

Women, now is your chance to really get into the war and fight for your future freedom. Those of you who have taken college courses in mathematics, engineering, physics or chemistry, can free an able-bodied male from a scientific job to join the armed forces.

A slide rule and test tube are just as deadly weapons as a machine gun. Your country needs now all the workers it can enlist. In a recent CBS "Womanpower" program, they explained the government's new Engineering, Science and Management War Training program which trains you without cost to become a naval architect, engineer, meteorologist, laboratory technician and for any number of other important jobs.

Whether you are an undergraduate or out of college for several years, you can help relieve the acute shortage of trained personnel in technical and scientific fields. Write now to the National Roster, Washington, D. C., for further information.

Bennett College Students Hear Dr. Thurman

Dr. Thurman continued by saying that he would not advocate that men assume a state of despair because of world conditions and went on to state that, faith in one's own cause and purpose, profound faith in the "inner logic of the relentlessness of the life process," and faith in God are three ways by which the elements of faith may be used to give and restore confidence.

The speaker pointed out in conclusion that the "City of God" is existent only in the purposes of men, in the life process of men and in the way God manifests himself in one's own life.

A fifteen minute organ prelude of Bach and Brahms compositions played by Orrin Clayton Suthern, II, Bennett college instructor of organ and piano, and two choral numbers—"In Bright Mansions Above and I'm So Glad Trouble Don't Last Always"—sung by the Bennett college choir completed the program of afternoon worship.

Discrimination Against Negro Soldiers Seen

A declaration by a member of the house of commons that there was "discrimination against Negro troops" of the United States army in Britain was described by Prime Minister Churchill today as unfortunate.

The question was raised by T. O. M. Driberg, who implied the alleged discrimination was introduced by Americans.

Replying Churchill said "the question certainly is unfortunate and I am hopeful that without any action on my part the points of view of all concerned will be mutually understood and respected."

Driberg then argued that it was wiser to air the problem of discrimination. Laborite Emanuel Shinwell commented that Brendan Bracken, minister of information, publicly had opposed discrimination.

"This is not the point of merit," Churchill replied to this. "It was on a point of representation being made."

Migratory Workers Will Be Able To Get Gasoline

Migratory workers, including farm laborers who move with the harvest from one section of the country to another, need have no fear of being stranded away from home by the advent of national gasoline rationing, William M. Jeffers, WPR Rubber Director, announced today.

Under present gasoline rationing in the east, and under plans being prepared for the entire nation to conserve the country's auto tires, workers engaged on farms and war construction projects rank as essential workers in the war effort. They therefore are entitled to supplementary gasoline rations to move about as their work requires.

Those now away from home who decide to stay in the areas where they are now working, will be entitled to gasoline rations necessary to enable them to carry on their work and to get back to their home towns when their work has been completed.

Mr. Wickard States Steps To Be Taken In Meat Rationing

Through its chairman, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, the Foods Requirements Committee of the War Production Board today announced two steps implementing the wartime meat program established earlier this month.

To make certain of sufficient meat for Army, Navy, and Lend-Lease use, the committee set up a policy of limiting total packer deliveries of meat into civilian consumption, and placed the limit for such deliveries during the final quarter of 1942 at the following percentages of total packer deliveries during the final quarter of 1941: Beef and veal, 80 per cent; lamb and mutton, 95 per cent; pork, 75 per cent.

To provide for fair sharing of this meat supply, the Committee asked civilians voluntarily to hold consumption at 2½ pounds per person per week.

Limitation orders effectuating the policy on restricted civilian meat deliveries by packers will be drafted and issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Secretary Wickard pointed out that, statistically, the limitation figures for the last three months of 1942 indicate an over-all reduction of 21 per cent below the amount of beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton available in the last quarter of 1941. However, in actual operation, the order may not result in so great a cut, since adjustments will be made when necessary to allow for changes during the past year in the pattern of distribution, and the wartime food requirements of different areas.

Wickard commented that the allowance to which civilians are asked to limit themselves in the interest of fair distribution is entirely adequate for good nutrition.

Explaining the two new steps taken in the wartime meat program, Secretary Wickard said:

"During the coming year American farms will produce and packing plants will handle over 24 billion pounds—a greater amount of meat than ever before in history.

"But the demand for this meat will be even greater than the huge supply.

"Three weeks ago we estimated Army, Navy and Lend-Lease needs at 6 billion pounds. This has now gone to 6½ billion pounds. Civilian consumers would take more than 21 billion pounds if it were available. The total supply is 24 billion pounds. There must be sharing of the supply.
