

HOMECOMING DAY PLANS OUTLINED BY COMMITTEE

DURHAM — In a special meeting at the North Carolina College here last Sunday afternoon, a committee representing the national Alumni Association outlined detailed plans for Homecoming Day activities at the college November 1 when the N. C. Eagles will play State A and I. College. Joseph Hill, president of the New Bern chapter, was elected chairman of the committee at this meeting which was presided over by M. S. Johnson, executive field secretary.

Another committee was appointed to encourage 100 per cent purchase of tickets to the game by alumni chapters throughout the country. The tickets will go on sale at the Durham office of the association, as well as at the headquarters of individual chapters September 10. It was announced that the alumnus selling the highest number of tickets before October 15 will be crowned king or queen of the day at the homecoming game.

It was also planned that homecoming activities would begin at noon, November 1, with an alumni dinner on the campus, and that a huge dance will follow the game. Secretary Johnson was authorized to appoint an attendance committee which will take care of details connected with organizing train and bus transportation of alumni from strategic cities to Durham.

Windsor Center

With school days just beginning and Fall programs of recreation units in the making, the Windsor Community Center swimming pool closed Monday, September 1, with an annual Water Festival under the supervision of Lonnie Blarm and Levi F. Graves, water safety instructors and life guards at Windsor swimming pool.

The nine basic styles of swimming were demonstrated by the following persons: Miss Florence Eveertt, Fred Wiley, Willie Matier, Ruth Parker, James Hargett, Henry Baker, Herman Davis, Lonnie Byarm, and Willis Smith.

Several junior life guards who received training from instructor Levi Graves demonstrated three forms of life-saving which were, the front head hold release and cross-chest carry, the back head hold release and head carry, and the tired swimmer's carry.

Special forms of diving were presented by Fred Wiley, Herman Davis, Levi Graves, Thurman Crenshaw, and Willie Matier. Swimming under water and floating was demonstrated by Priscillus Young. The festival was climaxed by several instructors and swimmers giving a demonstration of functional swimming or swimming through fire.

According to announcement by Eugene Levette, tennis supervisor at Windsor Community Center, the Gate City Tennis club was organized during the weekend. Officers of the club are as follows: H. M. Westerband, president; A. J. Taylor, vice-president; E. Levette, secretary, and O. B. Anderson, treasurer. Other members of the club are Frank Herbin, G. A. Rivers, A. M.

Coles, J. Burnside, F. A. Mayfield, Robert Daniel, and Edith Blount. Two visitors who expressed their desire to become members of the club are Miss Annie Bell and Mrs. W. M. Walker of Salisbury.

This club will meet again on Sunday, September 14, at 3:30 p. m., at Windsor Center.

The Junior All-Stars nosed out the Junior Hi-Hatters 3-0 in an exhibition baseball game.

The Junior Touch Football league will open soon.

N. C. COLLEGE FOOTBALL SQUAD GROWS FOLLOWING PRE-SEASON DRILLS

DURHAM — After a week of pre-season drills, the North Carolina College football squad for 197 has grown to 71 and consists mainly of newcomers, according to a report from Head Coach Herman Riddick. The first week was given to limbering up exercises and instructional sessions. However, on Monday, September 1, heavy equipment was issued, and the training routine stiffened.

This brings the Eagles to the point where emphasis will be placed on the basic steps necessary for good blocking and tackling, with attention given to timing and coordination among the backfield candidates. Coach Riddick has stated that he will not stress anything fancy or intricate until the men can show some mastery of fundamentals of the game.

Working with the linemen is Coach Leroy T. Walker, line coach, and his assistant is George Mack, former N. C. C. All-American, who is training the centers. It is his special task to find a candidate who will fill the shoes of Big John Brown who is now playing professional football.

E. C. "Pops" Turner is working with the backfield candidates along with Coach Riddick, who announced also that Athletic Director John B. McLendon will serve as chief scout this season, and student assistance will come from James Wallace, chief of the equipment room; Russell Williams and Edward Troy Weaver, student managers; Harold Hunter and Richard Miller, recorders.

Drills will be held twice daily until September 15, beginning at 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

The N. C. College coaches declined to mention any individuals who have already made themselves outstanding.

Mrs. G. G. Hargett was a delegate to the Shriners' Convention, which was held in Atlantic City, N. J., August 16. Joined later by her children, Miss Launa and Everett Hargett, Jr., they vacationed in New York, N. Y., Kew Gardens, Long Island, N. Y., Brooklyn, Newark, N. J., and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Rose D. Jenkins attended the Shriners' Convention at Atlantic City, N. J., last month.

ADULT CLASS TO BEGIN

For the men and women of Greensboro who cannot write, and for those whose learning is insufficient to carry on their daily affairs, the opportunity to improve on their learning is now being offered through night school for adults. Come to the Washington Street school Monday night, September 8, from 7:30 to 9, pay a small monthly fee and enroll in classes of reading, writing, arithmetic, English and spelling, with an opportunity for club work and programs. These classes are held Monday and Thursday nights, 7:30-9:30, throughout the school year.

Instructors are Mrs. N. W. Carrigan and M. G. Kemp.

Those from Greensboro who attended the Eastern Star Grand Lodge in Elizabeth City, N. J. were Mrs. Bettie L. Green, Mrs. Rose D. Jenkins, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Izone Huntley, and Mrs. G. G. Hargett and daughter, Launa.

Mrs. Lillian Turner, of Chicago, left last Wednesday after spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Nancy Hooker, of 505 Gorrell street.
