Bennett College Will Conduct Summer School

For the fourth successive year, Bennett College will conduct a summer institute in mathematics and science for 60 high ability high school students, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

The institute, made possible by a grant of $28,150 from the National Science Foundation of Washington, D. C., will extend for six weeks and will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division at the college. Dates for this year's institute are June 18 through July 27.

Courses in mathematics, biology, physics and chemistry will be offered by a select faculty to 1962 graduates and to rising juniors and seniors who have demonstrated their qualifications for this intensive study. Qualified students who have attended previous NSF institutes are eligible for this one provided they meet the admission requirements.

Emphasis is being placed upon the opportunity for superior students to participate in special research projects in an accelerated independent study program. Each participant accepted for the institute will receive a subsistence allowance covering books, school supplies, laboratory fees and field trips and health insurance. Financial assistance is available for highly qualified students who cannot pay all of their room and board expenses.

Further information may be obtained by writing to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, Director, NSI Summer Science Institute, Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

D. W. Morehead Elected Emcee of 1961

D. W. Morehead, Executive Secretary of the Hayes-Taylor Y.M.C.A. was honored with the title of "outstanding Emcee of 1961" at the club's annual Valentine Party, Wednesday night, February 14th. The affair was held at the Martel Bar-B-Q Restaurant and the presentation was made by V. C. Stroud. The Emcees, a local community improvement club, selected Morehead for his outstanding and numerous services and contributions to the Emcees Club. (Continued on Page 8)

N. C. C. Scholarship Program Will Benefit From Concert

A benefit concert for the scholarship fund of the North Carolina College Alumni Association will feature Della Reese in the college's R. L. McDougald Gymnasium on February 22.

According to George Nixon, General Alumni president, NCC alumni chapters contributed over $3,000 to the scholarship program during the fiftieth anniversary celebration. "This does not represent the numerous individual donations, and we hope to increase this amount this year," Nixon said.

This marks the first concert appearance here of the famous gospel and blues singer, who was on the Ed Sullivan TV show January 28. She will present a one-woman show entitled "From the Gospel to the Blues-Portrait of Della Reese."

On the stage of the 5,000 seat McDougald gymnasium, Miss Reese will be backed by a full orchestra, conducted by Duke Ellington's son, Mercer Ellington.

In addition, the famous Meditation singers, which Miss Reese founded, will perform with her in concert.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, Miss Reese gained nationwide acclaim on the hit tune "Don't You Know", recorded by her in 1959. Other hits waxed by her include "Someday", "Won't You Come Home Bill Bailey", and "In the Still of the Night".

Like many singers in the popular field, Miss Reese got her singing career started in a non-traveling church choir. Later she went on the road with the famous Mahalia Jackson and the Clara Ward Singers.

N. C. Tuberculosis Chairman

Raleigh — The first meeting of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Tuberculosis will be held here today according to Dr. David T. Smith, Chairman.

In appointing the Committee, Governor Terry Sanford stated, "Throughout North Carolina and the nation, progress has been made in the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis and in the rehabilitation of patients, but people still suffer and die from this disease. Much, therefore, remains to be done to still further reduce unnecessary human suffering and economic loss to the state. There is need to review the tuberculosis problem in the state, to study the points of strength and weakness in the attack and to determine the unmet needs."

The purpose of the Committee will be to study all available data on tuberculosis pertaining

Bennett Students Participate in Exchange Program

understand the cultural elements which make up diverse parts of the United States, they attended classes, social events, discussions and other special programs, lived in college residence halls and toured the neighborhood in which the college was located. The Bennett girls returned from New York on February 13.
