A little Danderine immediately dou-bles the beauty of your hair. No dif-ference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing-your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment-that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Adv.

His Past.

A benevolent lady was feeding a hungry tramp. She expressed her dis-favor at his wandering, idle life.

"I was not always in this condition, said the tramp. "I came from a good family."

You did?" said the lady. "Might I ask your name?"

"Blankleigh," replied the tramp. Why, that is the name of the peo ple that live next door!" exclaimed lady.

"I know it," replied the tramp. "They kicked me downstairs just before i

TAKE INTEREST IN GARDENS

Imerican Estate Owners Are Awai ening to the Advantage of Beau-tifying Grounds. tifying Groun

I am aware that the estate owner abroad are more attracted to their gardens than we find the American wners to be, but I am also awake the fact that Americans are mani-festing a keener interest in gardening in this present age than they ever did before. Long before many of our American estates attain the age of most of the English estates they will compare most favorably in their natural beauty, which is being developed, but which only time can finish. American landscapes should not be compared with English landscapes. An American landscaper who knows his business can get more beautiful ef-fects in the fall from the coloring of the leaves than Europe ever dreamed of. This is due to different, climatic conditions. On the other hand, Eu rope surpasses us in its winter land-scape effects on account of the holly. hows and many varieties of laure that are ever green in Europe, and which we, owing to our climate, can-not grow successfully, because they are not hardy with us. But the possi-bilities for beautiful effects are just as great here as in Europe or in any other part of the world. It sumply mains for the skill of the gardener to

Up to now, much of our trouble has been due to lavishly trying to follow European models and ideas. America presents opportunities for horticulture which are unequaled in any other po tion of the globe. California and Florida can produce wonderful tropi-cal effects; the east, while it may some of the hardy evergre still can grow enough varieties to make evergreens a feature, and, as stated above, our beautiful fall effects are unequaled in any part of the world.—M. MAN CAPTURES HIS CAPTOR

Colonel Pains, Commander of Confed-erate Brigads, Taken Prisoner When Thrown Into Vat.

Among the Confederate prisoners taken at the battle of Gettysburg was Colonel Paine, who cammanded a brigade and was captured by Private Abram Folger of Company H, Fifth New York cavalry. The facts of the capture, as told by Folger, are as foliewoi

While charging in the edge of Gettysburg and getting separated from my regiment, I was made a prisoner by Colonel Paine and was being taken to the rear. On the main road, just outside of the town, was situated a tannery, the vata of which were under cover and were very close to the

"I was walking along beside the colonel's orderly and as we came near these tannery vats I saw a carbine lying on the ground. When I came it I quickly took it. Se was loaded, I fired and killed Paine's horse, which, in its death struggle, fell over toward the vats, throwing the colonel completely under the tanning liquid.

"Seeing that the colonel was safe enough for the moment I turned my attention to his orderly, who, finding his pistol had fouled and was useless, was about to jump his horse over the fence to the right and escape way if he could, but not being able to do so, concluded he had better surrender. The reason I did not fire upon him was that the last shot in the captured carbine was fired at the colo-nel's horse. As the orderly did not know this, it was my play to make him think instant death awaited him if he attempted to escape.

"His gray uniform, with its white velvet facing, his white gauntlet gloves, face and hair, had all become completely stained so that he present-ed a most laughable sight. I then mounted the orderly's horse, and marched them before me to the market place, where I turned them over to the authorities, who laughed heartily at the comical predicament of the colonel. I had been captured by Colo nel Paine's command the winter be-fore, and you can just believe that I was glad to return the compliment

The words of Jesus are the greate authority the believer has upon which to found his belief in the Second Coming. Some refuse to have much to do with this important theme because others have perverted it or else "overly in the New Testament there are 318 distinct references to this theme, a far greater proportion than is placed upon some of the doctrines upon which whole denominations have been found-

1. The exhortation to watch, vv. 35-0. This is the beginning of a new paragraph. Jesus has been showing the relative value of material posses sions and the Kingdom of God and epitomises his teaching in v. 34. He now sets before his disciplines what shall their attitude towards him during his absence (II. Pet. 3:11, 12 R. V., Ti watchful seems to contradict his suggestions about anxiety. We need to remember, however, that the child of the Kingdom is in entirely relationship with the world. desire is not for self enrichment but rather to be in such relations with God as his rights demand and thus to bring as his rights demand and thus to bring to others their highest good. This par, able epitomises opportunity. Rightly to make use of none's opportunities spells happiness for the disciple when spens nappiness for the disciple when he the king shall appear. The evidence that we are watching for his appear-ing consists of the readiness of the in-dividual who is or is not watching. v. 35: I. Pet. 1:13. Jesus knocks at the v. 35; 1. Fet. 1:13.
