HOME TOWN HELPS

TOO PRONE TO COPY EUROPE

Americans Often Deceived by the Handsome Externals of European Cities.

Those Americans who assume that American cities to be beautiful must be slavish imitations of European cities will find plenty of food for reflection in what a famous and up-to-date city planner has to say in opposition to their views.

After doing a great deal of work in remodeling cities abroad he visited this country last year to study our cities and their problems at close range. The result of his observations is told by him in an article in Landscape Architecture.

He declares emphatically that Americans are altogether too prone to be deceived by the handsome externals of European cities, which too often conceal terrible conditions of ugliness and overcrowding; that European problems are by means identical to those confronting us over here; that neither Europe nor America will ever find a really efficacious remedy for congestion, unsightliness, and the other evils besetting their cities by looking into the past, but must devise something entirely new, based on the new conditions that have arisen since the original plans for cities were made both here and abroad. He writes:

The admiring attitude of the American traveler toward the splendor of famous cities like Paris, Berlin, and Vienna might often be altered considerably if he clearly realized how many hundreds of thousands of the citizens of those much-quoted capitals and supposed "model cities" are suffering under the most inhuman conditions of overcrowding.

SAFETY FIRST IDEA SPREADS

Accident Prevention Methods Which Illustrate What Can Be Done by Small Railways.

Two accident-prevention methods recently followed by a small electric railway in Pennsylvania indicate forcibly that the smaller railway properties are capable of developing effective safety campaigns even if they cannot afford to adopt the more costly methods of their big brothers.

One is the practise of having the men report bad lighting in the vicinity of bad roadway, and the other is the analysis of accidents on the basis of territorial divisions. As to the first, almost every railway which operates over un-paved highways has had to foot more than one accident claim that should have been paid by the municipality.

WAY TO PREVENT MOSQUITOES

Good Paving an Efficient Method of Getting Rid of the Pests.

All advocates of various kinds of paving materials emphasize their sanitary qualities, but it is not often that health promotion is given as the sole reason for repaving.—In a recent communication to the Detroit city council certain worn, paved alleys are described as being in an insanitary condition, on account of the depressions, which hold accumulations of filth and stagnant water, creating a nuisance and menacing the health of the public.

Town Planning Grows.

Of passing interest, it may be noted that seven states in the United States and four provinces in Canada have enacted laws authorizing municipalities of 10,000 population or more to establish city plan boards or commissions; that twenty-five cities in the United States have organizations for the promotion of city planning; that thirty-four cities of the United States have city plans developed in lesser or greater degree; that nine cities in the United States have authorized art commissions; that twenty-nine cities and towns in the United States and six cities in Canada have authorized city planning commissions. These statistics are compiled from a recent report of Flavel Shurtleff, secretary of the National Conference on City Planning, and from data contained in the replies to a questionnaire.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. BELLETT, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR AUGUST 2

THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY.

LESSON TEXT.—Mark 11:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT.—"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem, because thy king cometh unto thee." Zeck. 9:9 R. V.

Mark devotes 233 verses to his account of the last week of our Lord's life and 425 to all the balance. Matthew devotes seven chapters and Luke five. If all of the life of Jesus had been given to us in like ratio it would have taken at least 80 volumes in which to tell us the story.

Today's lesson is the introduction to that week. We must consider his entry in its light upon the whole movement of his life. His instructions how to secure the colt seem to indicate his intention to provoke a demonstration. Though often in Jerusalem before, this was a different occasion, and for a different purpose. Before he did not provoke his conflicts, now he courts publicity, that he may fasten his claims upon the attention of all.

Test of Faith.

1. "The Lord hath need of him," vv. 1-7. It was a test of faith for those disciples to obey the Lord's command (v. 2), yet they did precisely what they were commanded to do (v. 6). Obedience is the supreme test of discipleship, John 15:14. When the disciples entered the village (v. 1) they found the colt "whereon no man ever yet sat." Jesus knew all and had the keys to the human heart. Perhaps this colt belonged to a disciple, hence the willingness to let it be used for the occasion Jesus was for the first and only time assuming.

Many disciples are not willing to be so explicitly and simply obedient. This obedience is heightened when we remember how the disciples had followed Jesus towards Jerusalem "amazed and perplexed."

Those who stood by asked the very question suggested by Jesus, v. 6 cf. v. 2. As these disciples cast their garments upon the colt for Jesus to sit upon, they proclaimed their allegiance to him as king.

2. "Hosanna" vv. 8-11. Literally, "save now," Ps. 118:25, 26. His entry was characterized by a remarkable outbreak of enthusiasm. Before this only the disciples accepted his kingdom claims, now the multitude found their expression of gratification. Passing into the city, sitting upon the colt, he was accompanied by their chants of praise. Their first word was, "Hosanna"—their last "Hosanna in the highest." Between these they exclaimed, "Blessed is the kingdom that cometh, of our father David." It has been suggested that this host was made up largely of Galileans, and that theirs was an appeal to the city to receive the one who was coming, hence their double blessing to the king and to the kingdom. Jesus seems to have yielded his whole soul to this glad acclaim. It was a necessary part of that dignity which should properly be accorded to the Messiah on this his last entry into the Holy City. This suggestion about the Galileans may explain the cry uttered the last part of the week by the citizens of Jerusalem, "Crucify him." Still we feel sure that many of this same crowd joined this latter cry. The use of the word "many" (v. 8) seems to indicate that everyone joined the acclamations of joy.

Effect of Psychology. Some of that crowd were doubtless moved by the "psychology of the crowd," and their devotion was short-lived. It is not hard to imagine the effect this strange procession must have produced upon the city as it moved on to the temple. Some threw their garments upon the ground to pave his way. Others took palm branches (John 12:13) and strewed them in his path. Some of the Pharisees cried out against this demonstration, Luke 19:39, but the Master replied, "If these should hold their peace the stones would immediately cry out," Luke 19:40. From Luke's account we see that Jesus did not seem to share the joy of that day, Luke 19:40-44. He saw the end from the beginning, and rightly estimated, at its true value, the evanescent adulation of the crowd. Summary. This is a strange triumph. What a variety of emotions it must have aroused. Those of the disciples, the crowd, the Jewish sects, the Roman soldiers and citizens, and in the breast of Jesus. How different than the triumphal processions of Rome. Heaven also saw the events of that day.

The clothing cast before him speaks of sacrifice on his behalf. The chanting of children's voices were a prophecy of his ultimate victory. The disciples and the multitude were filled with hope. The Galileans poured forth their praise of praise and exultation. The on-looking rulers of Israel, already plotting his arrest, must have presented dark and sinister faces. In the midst of all this what of his heart? Was it not filled with loneliness, the false hopes, the aroused antipathy? Yet, he is not alone, for he had the Father with him.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

NOT ALL BEER ADVOCATES.

(From address by Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National W. C. T. U., before the senate judiciary subcommittee, May 1.)

One of the speakers at the hearing on April 25 stated that all Germans are drinkers. We are sorry our German friends do not know that many hundreds of German women in this country are members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and in Germany we have a splendid following of thousands of total abstainers, banded together in a national society of abstaining women of Germany affiliated with the World's Woman's Christian Temperance union. The white-ribbons of Germany have for their president the great-grandniece of the gallant Gen. von Bischoff, who led the allied forces with Wellington in the famous battle of Waterloo.

We are surprised that our German friends did not allude to the most conspicuous figure in the fatherland, Emperor Wilhelm, whose good advice to the naval cadets to let alcohol alone has everywhere been noted and commended. Evidently the kaiser believes as we do, that the naval defenders of a great country must be total abstainers if they are to reach the necessary degree of efficiency in service.

The gentleman also asserted that Von Moltke was a drinker. We know that he was a total abstainer. Von Moltke said, "Beer is far more dangerous to Germany than all the armies of France." Our German friends claimed that beer has great food value. Germany's famous chemist and scientist, Liebig, many years ago declared "There is more nourishment in the amount of flour that can be held on the blade of a knife than there is in a quart of the best Bavarian beer."

All Germans do not agree with the speaker that beer should not be classed with alcoholic liquors. "It is just this precious beer," writes Dr. Max Gruber, president of the Royal Institute of Hygiene at Munich, "which lowers the intellectual capacity and willpower of thousands and thousands of people and makes them old before their time, ruins stomach, liver, heart, and brain; brings them into the poorhouse and prison, hospital and asylum, and early puts them under the earth."

BOGUS ARGUMENT.

From Noah down, men have used and abused intoxicants, but that signifies nothing whatever. From Noah down, men have done all sorts of fool things, and as to some of the things have gradually learned that they were follies and so eschewed them. George Washington drank rum before breakfast. There is no more reason for sticking to George's rum than for cupping and bleeding patients for every illness. That normal human nature does not need alcohol we know from the millions of men and women who do without it—and female human nature has always been able to subsist without getting drunk. The historical argument is bogus. The moderate drinker need not be considered at all; for if a man is truly a moderate drinker, alcohol is of such slight account to him that its presence or absence can make no difference.—Saturday Evening Post.

PROSPERITY A-PLenty.

"No place for the calamity howler," says former Lieutenant Governor Newlands, speaking of temperance in North Carolina. "The state is enjoying the greatest prosperity in every line of business it has ever known. If Coxey's army ever crosses its borders it will get no further. Manufacturers and farmers in North Carolina need meat to turn out their products and to help harvest their crops. There is no excuse for a single one being idle when every opportunity is presented and inducement held out to laborers, both skilled and unskilled. We are going to have bumper crops in the state this year, and the people are willing to pay good wages for help, because they have the money to do so."

BRUBACKER'S OBJECTION.

"Jesus made wine." So he did—made it out of water—just water, nothing else. And when our big brewers make their beer out of the same ingredient—and nothing else—they may put my picture and my signature on every bottle. But as long as they put in cedar shavings and cannabine indica biosoms and acetic ether and sulphuric acid they can't use my picture. But my friend says 96 per cent of beer is water. That's true, and if the 96 per cent of water could be drawn off 96 men couldn't make you drink what's left.—Wm. A. Brubacker.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The census figures for 1910 show that for the whole country the average number of prisoners committed to penal institutions was 553 per 100,000 population. The number committed in prohibition Kansas was 196 per 100,000, while in license Nebraska the number was 485 per 100,000. In the average commitments per 100,000 for every state in the Union, only two other states are lower than Kansas—North Carolina and North Dakota, both prohibition states.

Revolutionary Patriot.

James Lovell, a distinguished patriot of the Revolution, died 100 years ago in the town of Windham, Me. Mr. Lovell was born in Boston in 1737 and graduated from Harvard college at the age of fourteen. He delivered, April 2, 1771, the oration before the town authorities on the Boston massacre. Because of his display of patriotism he was imprisoned by General Gage immediately after the battle of Bunker Hill. Subsequently he was conveyed to Halifax with the British army, and remained in confinement until exchanged for Governor Skene in the latter part of 1776. From 1776 until 1782 Mr. Lovell was a member of the Continental congress. In later life he filled a number of public offices in Boston.

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

Marpleton, W. Va.—"When my little boy was one year old he broke out in little fine pimples all over his face. At times they would dry up and get scaly and peel off, then they would break out fresh again. He would scratch them until his face would be raw. The eczema looked angry and ran blood and corruption. His face was red and disfigured. He seemed restless and I had to be up with him the greater part of the nights.

"I applied various remedies without result. He continued to break out with the eczema until I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them and the first application eased him. In ten days he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Lizzie Mollohan, Jan. 2, 1914.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Long-Lived Family.

The record for longevity is held by the Garrett family of Stranraer, Scotland, the oldest member of which, Mr. James Garrett, has just passed away. Mr. Garrett claimed to be the oldest fisherman in Scotland. A native of Stranraer, he was almost a hundred years old. His mother and father, who were also natives of the district, lived until they were one hundred and one hundred and three years respectively. His oldest surviving son is now well over seventy years of age.

Absurd Comment.

Theodore Dreiser, the realist, said of an idealist at the Players' club in New York:

"The man's comments on life are ludicrous and absurd. They remind me of the old lady's comment on the work of the militant suffragettes. 'After the suffragettes in London had slashed a Valesquez, a Bellini and a Gentile, the old lady said, with a kind of saintly expression: 'But, thank goodness, they're all old pictures that are being slashed.'"

Preferred the Lesser Evil.

"What are you going to be when you grow up, Jennie?" "I'm going to be an old maid." "An old maid, dear! Why?" "Cause I don't think I'd like to kiss a man a hundred times and tell him he's handsome every time I do shopping. I'd rather earn money and buy things for myself."

As Usual.

Englishman—The suffragettes assaulted the prime minister this morning. American—Did they fire 21 guns? Englishman—No; houses.—Life.

A Mere Toy.

Silas—That city fellow follows his vocation closely and yet he spends all of his time at play. Hex—How does he manage that? Silas—He leads a string orchestra.

PRIZE FOOD.

Palatable, Economical, Nourishing. A Nebr. woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes:

"After our long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost continually for seven years.

"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all.

"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Postum and Grape-Nuts, I was almost a nervous wreck. I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, and no interest in life.

"After using Grape-Nuts a short time I began to improve and all these ailments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts, which they eat three times a day.

"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptom of stomach trouble, even through the most severe stage of whooping cough they could retain Grape-Nuts when all else failed.

"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite.

The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Snakes Got His Roll.

"I lost $325 trying to kill rattlesnakes, and now I am going to walk back to my home in Brooklyn," explained a man about forty-five years old, who said he is Ezra Sellen.

Sellen said he started for a walk from his boarding place, encountered a lot of rattlesnakes, killed some, fled from the others, waded a stream, and then missed his roll of bills. He said he had just money enough left to ride to this city and took the state road out of town.—Middletown (N. Y.) Dispatch to New York World.
