While official announcements made | there has been no contact with the by the British and French authorities were to the affect that there had been no change in the situation of the bel ligerent armies, unofficial reports said that the German right wing had been checked and forced to retire on St. Quentin, on the river Somme, 30 miles northwest of Laon. The British official press bureau in its statement said a German move-ment was developing in an eastward and south-eastward direction. The direct geographical location of this movement was omitted.

Further confirmation was received in New York that many thousands of Russian troops had gone into France to join the allies against the Germans Their number was estimated at be tween 70,000 and 80,000.

Newspaper reports to London said the Germans were operating in the district between Alost and Termonde, Pelgium, and that the latter town was being bombarded.

German forces in the region of Com-plegne and Senells for three days, and that the situation in the Northeast has not changed. The two towns are respectively 45 miles and 32 miles northeast of the French Capital and they appear to mark the points nearest Paris to which the Gerrman advance guards have approached.

As lines around Paris tighten and the German forces draw closer to the French Capital, the official statements regarding the progress of the war grow briefer and are more and more lacking in details. With the removal of the Govern ment to Bordeaux all efforts around Paris have been directed to preparations for the threatened investment of the Capital by the Germans. In addition the French authorities have ordered aeroplane patrols to guard confidence in an eventual and abso lute victory. That the cost will be high is not for a moment doubted, but the men in charge of operations are determin-ed to make any racrifice, no matter how appailing.

The people are inclined to under-rate the size of the task before the German arms. They are, however, ready to pay the cost of victory, how ever great it may be.

A marked feature of the situation has been the wonderful manner in which the German mobilization was carried out. Everything was pro-pared in advance. There was not during the whole period of mobilization a single question from any per-son in charge of any branch of the work. Not one instruction had been misunderstood. An illustration of the thorough preparedness of the general staff is the experience of America's military attache, Major Langhorne, who called on War Minister von Falkerhayn in the midst of the mobilization. Major Langhorne began to excuse himself for intruding at such a busy time. "Come in, Major." said von Falken.

SERVIANS WIN DECISIVE VIC-TORY OVER AUSTRIANS.

An official statement issued at Nish Servia gives new and fuller details of the battle of Jedar. The Austrian force of 200,000 men held a favorable position. By its retreat it admitted defeat. The Austrians left on the field of battle 10,000 dead and more than 2.000 wounded according to the report.

"Altogether." continues the state ment, "40,000 of the enemy were placed hors de combat. We have sent to the interior more than 4,000 whom we took prisoners, and have captured political guns, much ammu-nition, the material for the construction of a 600-meter bridge and a train The battle was of great importance because it was decisive. The enemy retreated to Santzek."

The British official war information bureau has issued a long general survey of operations of the British army during the past week and in addition a list of British casualties which shows a total of more than 15,000 men up to September 1.

The statement, which is based on a report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front, speak highly of the spirit of the British soldiers and their achievements. It declares that while the British losses are heavy they are not one-third of the losses inflicted by the British troops on the Germans. The statement closes with a call for more men.

Washington .- Interest in war revenue legislation overshadows every-thing else in Congress.

Administration leaders are moving cautiously, eager to submit within a few days a measure to assure $100,-000,000 in additional revenue and also to avoid political pitfalls.
