Local Boy Makes Good At Painting

Again the promising young painter from the city, Julius L. Settlemire, Jr., has broken through the reserve of the older art critics and judges with two paintings receiving honorable mention at the annual art exhibition of the Association of Federal Architects, held in Washington, D. C., recently.

Selected for credit were "The Man in The Fur Hat" and a portrait of the Washington architect, Chase Robinson. The Committee of Awards was headed by Dr. Leicester B. Holland, director of fine arts at the University.

Settlemire, who is specializing in portraiture, is now finishing several large easel paintings that he expects to exhibit in Washington and New York this year. His work is said to show decided talent.

Young Settlemire's parents reside at 204 West Kings street, here.

Mr. William C. Caven, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Caven, graduated from Erskine College, Du. West, S. C., with high honors on May 31st. During his four year course at Erskine, Mr. Caven has been president of the Philomathean Literary society, treasurer of the Erskine Symphony society, and a member of the Erskine band, Campus Swing band, Saxophone Quartette, Glee Club, the Gold on Quill creative writers' club, Forensic council, varsity debate team, Little German band, Y. M. C. A., and the choir of the A. R. P. church of Du. West. He also paid a great part of his own college expenses as Physics and Chemistry laboratory assistant and as the college electrician. In spite of the heavy extra-curricular work carried, Mr. Caven has made the honor roll for the past two years.

O. B. Biggerstaff Buys Crescent Store

O. B. Biggerstaff, of Forest City, and father of F. E. Biggerstaff who formerly owned the Crescent Store here purchased the bankrupt stock and fixtures, at the U. S. Bankrupt Court Tuesday afternoon for $625. Mr. Biggerstaff also purchased the car of the bankrupt for $100.

The bankrupt stock and fixtures were sold at auction here Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock by E. L. Campbell, trustee. At the sale the stock brought $300 and the fixtures $185, making a total of $485 but at the hearing later on in the day at Charlotte the bid was raised to the above figure.

It is understood that the stock of goods and fixtures will be moved from Kings Mountain.

Business Men To Go To Battleground For Supper

The Business Men's Club begins this evening their regular summer schedule of picnics in the communities around Kings Mountain. They are going today to the CCC Camp Furguson near the Battleground for a supper which is to be served them in the mess hall at the camp. To this meeting the men are taking the ladies and others as their guests.

The best way to this camp according to Glee Bridges, President of the Club, is to go the York road, turn to the right at the sign pointing to the battleground and keeping to the right; the camp is located on the right.

A number of parties are planning to go a little early so as to take the opportunity to see the improvements which are being made in the battleground area.

A. H. PATTERSON WINS BED SPRINGS

A. H. Patterson is either a good guesser or measurer. He was declared winner of $22.75 pair of Foster's Ideal Bed Springs in the contest sponsored by the D. F. Hord Furniture Company to determine the number of inches of wire in the springs. The correct answer was 12,803 and Mr. Patterson's estimate was 12,800 missing by only 3 inches.

132 persons entered the contest, and Mr. Hord was well pleased with the interest aroused by the contestants.

LENOIR-RHYNE GRADUATES

Miss Mary Louise Rhyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Rhyne, and W. K. Mauney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Mauney, of Kings Mountain were among the large group graduating at Lenoir-Rhyne College this year.

Washington Snapshots

A bill has been introduced in the Senate to make creation of the new court possible. It provides for a chief justice and ten associates, all to receive a yearly wage of $12,500.

Washington's cocktail and tea hour conversationalists would have a dull time of it indeed if it were not for such stories as the one of a top-rung brain-truster who reportedly wanted to have airplanes fly over the country dropping dollars for recovery's sake. The story has gone the rounds of the Capitol in many versions, the most popular one being:

This certain gentleman (he is also credited with writing a good many of the Cabinet speeches) is supposed to have proposed the spending-from-the-skies program during a conference on spending ideas back in 1934. He purportedly said that the right way to restore buying power and bring recovery was to pour money in circulation in the greatest possible quantities at the highest possible speed. To do that he suggested that a fleet of planes be loaded with dollars and be sent out over the country to drop their cargo where anybody who needed cash could pick it up.

The Capitol spectators are speculating on a new potentially. The CIO, it has become known, is quietly organizing the Nation's unemployed and relief clients. They are being taken into the CIO fold as non-dues paying members — until they get jobs. They are admitted to this status on the condition that they will work as unpaid organizers for the CIO and bring in memberships of dues-paying employed workers.

In return for their services they are also promised help in increasing their relief ratings. In other words, the CIO helps them get more relief from the public agencies.

With the CIO already dominating much of the relief dispensing, the speculators are wondering just how potent the organization may become if and when the organization of employed and unemployed alike is complete as one unit.

WPA "boondoggle" stories are going the Washington rounds and causing no end of criticism of the WPA among the conservative Congressmen. One story concerns a WPA project in Missouri, where it seems that $226,961.93 was spent to compile a Missouri guidebook. Now the project has been suspended without publication of the book because the WPA says it can't find a "competent" editor to assemble and edit the great mass of copy written by the relievers.

SMYRE WILLIAMS BREAKS LEG
Mr. Smyre Williams, assistant manager of Belk's Department Store had the misfortune Tuesday afternoon to break his right leg playing softball. The large bone was broken just above the ankle. The many friends of Mr. Williams hope for him a speedy recovery.

WINS HONORS AT ORPHANAGE
Miss Envylda Littlejohn, daughter of Mrs. R. F. Littlejohn and the late R. F. Littlejohn, of Kings Mountain and Gastonia, recently won the music medal at the Thomasville Orphanage. Miss Littlejohn won honors in both piano and clarinet playing.

DIXIE

To The People Of Cleveland County

The most difficult problem I've had this week was to find words to express my appreciation to the voters of Cleveland County. I spent hours over the week-end and on Monday, with pencil and paper, I tried my level best to write the true expression of my gratitude. I find it's beyond my power of speech. I can only say—

I THANK YOU

J. Raymond Cline
