Business Men Honor Freedom Of Press
 Portland, Ore., May 29.—(IPS).—Local and national industry joined here recently in paying tribute to R. G. Calvert, Associate Editor of the Portland Oregonian, and winner of this year's prize for editorial writing, at an East-West conference of business.
 Howard Conoley, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, pointed out that the business men meant the honor they paid Mr. Calvert to stand as a symbol.
 "Industry," the N. A. M., President declared, "in honoring Mr. Calvert, pays tribute to two principles inseparably linked with the American system of private enterprise — democracy and freedom of the press.
 "The first of these—the spirit of democracy — inspired his prize winning editorial; the second, freedom of the press — brought it before the eyes of thousands of American citizens to inspire them to the preservation of these principles."
 "My Country 'Tis of Thee, was written last October, in the midst of a European crisis. The editorial is; an eloquent summary of the many reasons Americans should be thankful that they are Americans, and concludes with the following plea to guard this country's privileges and liberties:
 "In this land of ours, this America we have illuminated the true road to permanent peace. But that is not the sole moral sought herein to be drawn. Rather it is the blessings of liberty and equality and peace that have been herein recounted the possessed nowhere in the same measure in Europe or Asia and wane or disappear as one hears or enters a land of dictatorship of whatever brand. This liberty, this equality, this peace, are imbedded in the American form of government. We shall ever retain them if foreign arms that would dig them out and destroy them are barred from our shores. If you cherish this liberty, this equality, this peace that is the material and peace spiritual — then defend with all your might the American ideal of government."

MR. MERCHANT SPEND YOUR ADVERTISING MONEY WISELY

Like saving money, advertising brings the best results when it is done regularly. And so by wise spending of your advertising budget, we mean a program of regular advertising, worked out in advance.

The merchant who plans his sales program carefully, and uses adequate space in the Kings Mountain Herald, regularly will not only increase his sales and profits—he will build a foundation of good will that will benefit him for many years.
