

Urged To Learn Signals And Use Them Correctly

"Every driver in North Carolina is supposed to know the various arm signals and their meanings, yet hardly a day goes by but that an accident occurs somewhere in the state as a result of some driver regarding a signal, failing to give a signal, or giving a wrong signal." In connection with the above statement, Ronald Hocutt, director of the Highway Safety Division, reported this week that 160 accidents occurred in North Carolina last year as a result of drivers failing to give a signal before coming to a stop or making a turn. Another 341 accidents, 23 of which were fatal, resulted from a disregard of signals. "Entirely too many North Carolina drivers take the attitude that arm signals are unimportant," Hocutt said. "The average driver generally gives no signal at all, or gives the wrong signal, before stopping or turning. And some drivers seem to think they have given an adequate signal if they simply flutter their hand out the window of the car. Others stick their hands out and down regardless of whether they plan to make a left turn, make a right, or come to a stop."

cautioned, "the driver behind you and the one approaching you are not mind readers. The purpose of arm signals is to let the other fellow know what you are about to do. Courtesy, caution and common sense demand that you give signals—the proper signals—and that you pay attention to the signals given by the other driver. And if you do give proper signals when driving, be sure that you give them in ample time for the other fellow to act upon them. Giving a signal too late is virtually as bad as giving no signal at all."

37th Farm Home Week Will Start On Monday

The 37th annual educational, entertaining, economical vacation for rural people of North Carolina will start at N. C. State College in Raleigh on Monday. It is Farm and Home Week, an event which is expected to attract 3,000 farm men and women to the campus of their own agricultural college.

John W. Goodman, assistant Extension director, and Miss Ruth Curt, State home demonstration agent, are in charge of arrangements and they have planned programs which will be of interest to all rural people—men and women, young or old.

The registration fee of only $1.00 will entitle a person to a room in a dormitory for the entire week, and meals will be available at a reasonable cost in the college cafeteria.

THIS 'N THAT

By Alice Burton
Patterson Grove Section

July 22.—Preaching was held last Sunday at 9:30 by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Suttle and Sunday School immediately after. Rev. Suttle reported that he enjoyed his vacation very much, and had a good rest. Plans are being made to purchase new song books for the church before the revival meeting which begins the first Sunday in August. These books are being bought by members of the church. Those who would like to contribute money for this purpose should see Mr. Forest Ford, the singing leader.

A revival meeting began at Penley's Chapel Methodist Church yesterday. Services will begin each night at 8:00.

Oak Grove Baptist church is also having a revival this week. School began at Patterson Grove and Beth-Ware today.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Phifer and Misses Ollie Mae and Ruth Seism, were visitors in Casear last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ware were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ware Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thornburg spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamrick of Valdese. Mr. Hamrick has been ill but is improving.

Mrs. Bert S. has been sick for the past few days.

Misses Leler and Estelle Ware of Oak Grove spent the week-end with the J. W. Carroll's.

Mr. Edwin Moore is recuperating from an appendix operation in the City Hospital, Gastonia.

There has been a number of big dinners here and there recently. There was a birthday dinner at Mr. Will Williams' of Beth-Ware Squ-day in honor of his birthday. Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyis and children were among those from this section present.

The Bob Thornburgs had a family reunion on the 14th. All of their sons and daughters were present and a large number of relatives and friends. The reunion was a doubly happy one since their daughter, Jay Thornburg Steele of Charlotte, was able to be present after being confined to a hospital for a long time.

And speaking of Thornburgs—Somebody ought to pin a medal or a blue ribbon on Love Thornburg for being the champion hawk-killer of this section. He has killed nine hawks this summer and a number of crows. To prove his marksmanship Mr. Thornburg has had one of the largest hawks he killed, mounted.

Mr. Price Harmon celebrated his birthday recently by having a birthday dinner on the 14th. Mr. Harmon said he was 70 years old—but could still jump a 10 rail fence! That's that for this week.
