TODAY Why grieve o'er errors of the past? Need such our future sway? The past don't make us right or wrong. 'Tis what we are today. Old "Yesterday" has lived its life Why linger 'mid its sorrow? It bears no part in future joy. Forget it for-tomorrow. -Jesse E. Campbell

THE SMALL TOWN

"A small town is a place where we don't brag about our faiths, hopes or our chariles, where reputation and character mean the same thing, where concrete backing is more esteemed than front, where we stand up for our rights rather than sit down for them, where a neighborhood is 100 miles long and neighborliness 100 miles deep, where a friend indeed doesn't wait tor your need, where we are like Judge Eill's boy who went to the city .... not because he made a mil J'on lollars .... but because he came back still Judge Billy's boy; where the telephone directory is 'Who's Who," the U. S. census the social register, a man's financial rating is based upon not what it takes in but what he puts out and we have a four hundred because the population is just that; where the mayor and the town bum know each other by their first names, where they don't carve anything on your tombstone that they wouldn't say to your face; where we go out with our own wives and like it; . where stranger's a stranger only because he wants to be; where a ham is something you serve with chicken and Broadway is where the school play came from 20 years ago: where the sheriff inquires about your wife's sciatica as he takes you to jail; the judge will loan you 20 dollars to pay your fine and the neighbors are glaw to see you back cause he's a member of your bridge club, and you don't cheat your opmonent at poker because he attends court officials will have to co-operwhere a newspaper man can make a ready knows.'-Selected.

Capt. O. C. O'Farrell, retired Southern' Railway Conductor, walks exactly like he is on a moving train. And speaking of conductors, I have noticed Captains O'Farrell and Ormand talking a great deal to each other. They meet down town and usually stop near the bank corner or in front of Griffin's, and I'll bet lots of the time they are recalling interesting experiences of their active railroading days.

the largest town in the country, but I'll wager that it is the only town in the world anywhere near it's size that had two families to visit Alaska about the same time. The same week that Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mauney were on their way to the distant outpost of America, friends in Kings Mountain received cards from School Teacher Marie Lineberger from Juneau, Alaska.

Mayor J. B. Thomasson is sporting a new straw hat. It's kinda late in the season for a new straw, but it's all right for His Honor, because he can wear it, before long beneath the warm sunshine' of Palm Harbor, Florida.

I noticed Moffett Ware late yester day afternoon on his way home from work, and believe me he looked all tuckered out. He had a good excuse though, said he had been harvesting wheat all day.

Interest has already begun in the Duke-Carolina football game even though it is not to be played until October. A group of 18 couples, of rabid football fans have already bought their tickets and chartered a bus. That's what I call preparedness.

sane benson, a Charming young English oirl, ercharaes the cashiam existence in Toirs shire for a gay whirl through Europe when she becomes heir to eighteen million pounds. So doing, however, she loses her fiance, young Dr. Freddie Jar-vis, who sees unhappiness for them both in a fast, expensive life. Furious — but still in love with him — Jane goes off to the continent with a parasitical set of fortune-hunters — male and female, while the publicity gets Freddie a contract in a fashionable Swiss "Clinic". In Monte Carlo, Jane meets an unknown young man, who begs her to leave — and not try to make a fortune by gambling. She, in turn, learns that de-tectives are following him, and gives him money to help him escape.

escape. Chapter Five When Jane went to her room that night, after a gay session at the gaming tables, Guy and Pietro, each in his own time, were waiting to profess their love. They were earnest, and comical in their plaints. She was blithe in her dis-missals. "You see...?" she said proudly to Freddie's photograph, "they've been waiting for me! They're not mules away — sulking — just When I need someone most. Idiot!" "But love doesn't go by logic,"

Hullender Reunion

The third annual Hullender Reunion was held Sunday at the old home site of Christy Hulfender on the Shelby Dallas road in Cleveland County, now owned by a grandson, John L. Foster. The occasion was sponsored by A. Beattie Morrow with the co-operation of John L. Fos ter. About 300 people was present in spite of the bad weather.

JUST HUMANS

Mr. Paul Howell of Asheville gave a brief summary of the occasion.

Mr. C. W. Henson of Kings Mountain returned the blessing for the tables loaded with fine eats.

Relatives were present from Kentucky, Virginia, Georgia, North and South Carolina.

Special music was rendered by Mr. Bill Calhoun and his Log Cabin Boys

This reunion is held the second Sunday of August each year and the entire Hullender generation and descendants are always invited to be present.

WHO'S GOING TO SACRIFICE WHAT?

The American people, driven by the need for military security, must build a military establishment costly beyond all precedents: An incredable proportion of the national income must be taken from the pockets of the people and diverted to government. All of us will have fewer luxuries. All-of us must conserve All of us must sacrifice.

That is clear enough and reasona ble enough. But it has become tragically plain that a very substantial portion of the American people sacrifices. It's the other fellow's standard of living which should suf fer, not their own. It's the other fellow who should pay the bill anl do the work, while they go on much as they did before.

Those who have gone on government relief as a career favor sacrilice, too-so long as it doesn't touch relief appropriations. The government, under the guise of "relief," still pays out millions for leaf raking, boondoggling and other com non-productive activities. pletely Powerful influences demand that not one nickel of this waste be e liminated, no matter how much others sacrifice to pay it, or how dire the menace the country faces.

The professional politicians talk much of sacrifice, in noble words. But it is a rare politician who is willing to sacrifice one thin dime of patronage that might cost a vote, to support a principle. Money still goes out for farm relief schemes foredoomed to failure-for unnecessary tax-built and tax-subsidized govern ment electric plants, for government credit schemes of all kinds, and for a thousand and one purposes which are in no way a true function of government, but which are prolific sources of votes and powert The self-seeking hand of politics handicaps a real defense program i, want to repeat, the trouble is not with the officers but with a lack of co-operation on the part of court officials in securing convictions. Yours truly, which would get maximum results with a minimum of waste of time and money.

Who is going to sacrifice what-That is the question that America faces today, if national security. is to be a reality, not a mirage. The answer is plain. All must sacrifice, all must contribute their full share. The other fellow isn't going to do it for us. Selfish interests now at play in America, whether they be in labor, industry, or government, . are the real fifth-columnists within our gates.

Laboratory tests show that cotton fibers have a tensile strength as high as 100,000 pounds to the square inch as compared with structural steel's 60,000. Is it any wonder that the toughest industrial fabrics, from canvass belting to truck tire cord, are made of cotton?

There is another way in which cotton is stronger than stell, stronger than trucks and automobiles, stronger than timber, stronger than a lot of things put together that we usually think are pretty strong. And that is cotton's strength in giving jobs and payrolls.

Compare these wage-earner totals from the last United States Census: steel works and rolling mills 394,574; motor vehicles 226,116; motor vehicle bodies and parts 221,332; lumber and tim ber products ... 19,084; paper 103,320; furniture 193,399; rayon and allied products 39,106; cotton. gocds 424,916.

Add ten million producers who grow the cotton from which the goods are made and you begin to understand the financial stake of all of us in cotton. There's only one way to keep the cotton jobs and payrolls serving us-and that's to use cotton products.
