Excessive Rains Mar Cotton Seed Quality

Heavy rains about the middle of suguet and frequent showers since then have caused considerable damage to open and 'cracked cotton boils, according to P. H. Kime, agrowmist of the State College Exmediment Station.

As a result, it is anticipated that seed from the first picking will be of poor quality in the southern and mstern parts of the State. Seed from bolls which have been open for several days will germinate poor b. Where the bolls cracked, the inmage has been much worse.

Kime recommends that where cot ton is badly damaged the crop be aough. After ginning the seed should be sold to the oil mill, since the risk of their germinating properly s too great.

If the farmer wishes to save seed. he should wait antil bolls are profuced that are not weather-damagrd. Handling seed cotton after it leaves the field is also important Care exercises in harvesting and storing seed cotton or seed will prevent much damage caused by heat

A large acreage of this year's crop is eligible for certification by the North Carolina Crop Improvement association. Kime explained cotton grown from seed of approved rarieties secured direct from breed rs is eligible, provided it meets the sequirement for certifier seed.

How's Your PICK-UP?

Do you pick up the receiver promptly when your telephone rings, or do you sometimes delay a little? You know, unless you answer a call just as soon as you can, the calling party may think you're absent and hang up . . . And it might be an important call you've missed.

And how about your HANG-UP?

When making a call, be slow to hang up if you don't get an answer immediately. The person you're calling may be some distance away from his telephone or otherwise unable to answer promptly. So allow his telephone to ring until you're sure no one is going to answer. lust a few moments waiting on your part will save you time in the long run, because you'll complete more calls.

DE QUICK ON THE PICK-UP ... SLOW ON THE HANG-UP ... And you'll get more satisfaction

Refugee Children Will Adjust Well With Proper Help

(By Dr. Richard F. Richle, State tive capacity; Adjusting in America Welfare Department)

An urban paper in Nortr Carolina carried a brief news item recently which illustrates in a graphic way the depth of the second World War go along, for this is something enect on children. The item stated which has never happened before. that refugee English girls of eight years living with relatives in an lowa town had responded to the tra ditional noonday siren by running frantically about the house looking for a hiding place. They had, of course, been conditioned to the fear that accompanies an air rail alarm.

The immediate response of child ren in cooperating with the disciplined routine established in existence, yet the fact that terror anxiety play a part in this "obedience" is unfortunate. If the frighten ing circumstances continue long and efforts to stabilize the child's emotional balance were lacking, the per sonality might be permanently damaged. It is heartening to know that the English Ministry of Health recoguizes this increased hazard youth. Child guidance (mental hygiene) clinics for children have been established to give medicalpsychiatric attention to serious pro blems of behavior and personality as they arise.

We can be sure that the refugee children in the Iowa town will resolve their fears in the warmth of affection and reassurance which their new home affords. Patience will be used in meeting any other problems that they may have devel-

It will be more difficult to remove the disturbing emotional reactions of the children who remain in England. Although the raids will continue to destroy property and human lives, the guldance of English welfare workers will give the childhen some security. This will be of great mental hygiene importance even though it should be no ma e than a recognition of the child's problem, and the realization that someone wants to help. The will not feel alone.

The refugee children coming to the United States will be affected in varying degrees of anxiety accor ding to the experiences and the na-
