The hostess assisted by Mrs. M. H. Hargrett, Miss May F. Cook and Mrs. Arthur, served a tempting chicken salad course with accessories and a sweet course.

Study Club Meets With Mrs. J. R. Davis

Members of the Study Club and a number of additional guests were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. R. Davis on Mountain street. The lovely colonial home was attractively decorated with poinsettias, candles and greenery in holiday spirit.

Following a short business period Mrs. Davis, program leader, presented the mid-winter club study of Noted Women of Yesterday and Today, in a brief summary of past programs on the subject. She then presented Mrs. Proctor Thompson, who gave a most interesting biography of Amy Lowell, followed by selected readings of Miss Lowell's poems.

Alda Jean Davis delighted the guests with a piano solo, after which Mrs. W. T. Weir gave a scholarly discussion of Harriett Monroe's life and works.

At the conclusion of the program Alda Jean Davis played Christmas carols while the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reece Harville, Mrs. H. C. Sprinkle, Jr., Miss Mildred Lowrance and Miss Louise Morris, served a delectable salad and sweet course carrying out the holiday motif.

Meeting Industry's Defense Telephone Needs

MANY southern industries are strenuously at work building new plants, expanding existing ones, and generally gearing their facilities and man-power to advance the nation's defense program.

It is a tremendous and urgent job they have taken on. Their rapidly increasing communications needs create an equally important job of service expansion for the Telephone Company, including the engineering and installation of enlarged telephone facilities in many localities.

These industries are going ahead with their production and expansion activities and plans, with confidence that the Telephone Company will meet their telephone needs promptly and fully. Their daily requirements are being provided now, and the thousands of highly trained telephone workers are prepared with materials and experience to meet whatever service demands the future holds.
