PHONES 10-R AND 88 MRS. A. H. PATTERSON,

MISS MARGARET COOPER WEDS GEORGE W. PLONK

The marriage of Miss Margaret Julietta Cooper and George Webb Plonk was solemnized in a ceremony of exceptional beauty and charm uniting two of the most prominent families in this section on Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at St. Matthews Lutheran Church.

Altar decorations of green and white provided an effective background for the all-white motif carried out by the bridal party. The pulpit was arranged with an effective grouping of palms and ferns posed against the greenery were tall floor standards filled with white gladioli and graceful ferns outlined the altar. Cathedral tapers set in seven-branched candelabra burned among the greenery, and pews reserved for special guests were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Aubrey Mauney was at the organ. As a prelude to the ceremony she played "Nuptial Benediction" by Saint-Saens, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" and "Cantilene Nuptiale" by Dubois.

Armand Bodie, of Columbia, S. C. was soloist. He sang "O Promise Me by De Koven and "Because" by d'Hardelot. Mrs. F. C. Michael, of Gastonia, was violinist. She accompanied Mrs. Mauney and also played a number softly during the ceremony.

Mr. Bodie sang as a benediction "O Perfect Love." The familiar notes of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin by Wagner heralded the approach of the bridal party. Mendelssohn's Wedding March provided the recessional music.

The solemn ritual of the church was read by the bride's father, Dr. E. C. Cooper, president of Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C. He was assisted by Rev. Herman G. Fisher, pastor of the church. The impressive ring ceremony was used. Ushers were Clarence Plonk, Jr., brother of the groom; Edgar Cooper, brother of the bride, both of Kings Mountain; Alfred Costner of Lincolnton, and Ira Woodall Rose, Jr., of Rocky Mount.

Miss Martha Lou Mauney attended her cousin as maid of honor. She was gowned in a white dress with a lace bodice and a gathered skirt of mousseline de-soie and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses cut with her and white.

The bridesmaids were Dorothy Plonk, Elizabeth Neill and Clara Plonk, of Kings Mountain, and Pauline Hewitt of Lattimore. Their dresses were exact copies of the gown worn by maid of honor and they carried arm-bouquets of red roses tied with satin ribbons. Hair ornaments were lace butterflies.

The flower girls were Shirley Houser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Houser, of this city, and Christine Still, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Still, of Winston-Salem. They wore white floor length frocks trimmed with narrow lace and carried colonial nosegays of red and white roses.

Glenna Plonk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Plonk of Atlanta, was ring bearer. He wore a tailored suit of white linen and carried the ring on a heart-shape satin pillow.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Zeb Plonk, of Atlanta, Ga.

The bride, radiant beautiful, entered on the arm of her brother, Jacob Cooper, who gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which ended at a point over the hand. The lines of the bodice were princess effect, featuring a long torso. The skirt was of sheer white net over satin, very full and ending in a flowing train. Her veil was of misty bridal illusion and was caught with a bandeau of seed pearls.

She carried her mother's white prayer book covered with white orchids and showered with swansonia and fern tied with white satin ribbons. The prayer book, was carried by her mother, when she was a bride. The bride's only ornament was a brooch of pearls and diamonds which was formerly her grandmother's, Mrs. J. S. Mauney.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Cooper, on Piedmont avenue. Mrs. E. C. Cooper and Mrs. Clarence Plonk, mothers of bride and groom, received at the front door and introduced the guests to the bridal party. Dr. Cooper and C. S. Plonk greeted guests in the living room. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plonk received in the hall.

The dining room was decorated in white and green, carrying out the bridal motif. The table was laid with an imported cloth and centered with crystal bowl filled with roses and gladioli. At each end were crystal candelabra holding lighted white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mauney, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Mauney, Mrs. Jacob Cooper and Mrs. George Houser received in the dining room. Bifurcated and cake were served by Misses Mary Julia Pollock, Virginia Plonk, Mary Sue McGinnis and Maude Plonk, and Mrs. Humes Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Mauney greeted the guests in the hall and directed them to the gift room where Mrs. Garland Still of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Candler received. Refreshing punch was served by Mrs. B. N. Barnes, Mrs. Carl Mauney, Mrs. Billy Mauney and Mrs. Joe Mauney.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mauney presided at the bride's register. Goodbyes were spoken by Mrs. C. E. Neister and Mrs. Charles Murphy.

The bride is the only daughter of her parents and is a young lady of marked culture and charm. She attended Lenior-Rhyne College for two-years and was later graduated from Duke University. Her family has long been identified with the religious, cultural and social life of this section. Since the announcement of her engagement she has been extensively entertained.

Mr. Plonk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Plonk of this place. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and has finished his first year medical course at the University. He will continue his study in medicine this fall.

The mother of the bride wore powder blue chiffon and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and blue delphinium.

The mother of the bridegroom was gowned in royal lace with a corsage of pink roses.

For traveling Mrs. Plonk wore a smart suit of powder blue sheer wool, a white lace blouse with accordion pleated jabot. Her hat was an off-the-face model trimmed with matching blue, and a veil. Her accessories were navy and black. She wore a shoulder corsage of white orchids from her wedding bouquet. The young couple left for a honeymoon in the mountains of Western North Carolina.
