FARMERS ARE URGED TO GROW MORE HOGS

A steadily increasing demand for pork has caused Ellis V. Vestal, swine specialist of the N. C. State College Extension Service, to call on North Carolina farmers for larger numbers.

More money in circulation as a result of the Defense Program has created a brighter situation for swine raisers. Likewise, the leasehold act guarantees pork supplies to Britain.

"These factors have brought about a favorable ratio between hog prices and feed prices," Vestal said. "With hogs selling at 10 cents a pound and better, farmers and 4-H Club members may well afford to feed any pigs they have, even if they have to buy some corn as well as protein and mineral."

An average of ten trials conducted by the North Carolina Experiment Station showed that 19-cent hogs will return $1.57 a bushel for corn consumed, basis cottonseed meal at $1.75 per 100 pounds, and fish meal at $3.50 per 100 pounds.

Farmers and farm boys wishing to conduct feeding demonstrations are advised by Vestal to use the following procedure:

Weigh the pigs at the beginning of the period.

Use a self-feeder. Blueprints may be obtained from any county agent.

Use shelled corn or ground barley in one compartment, and cottonseed meal and fish meal (or tankage) in the other.

Use the recommended mineral mixture in a dry place. Green feed is important, too.

Keep a record of the feed used. Vestal said county agents will be glad to assist farmers in carrying out these swine-feeding demonstrations.
