Farmers Are Eligible For New Tires, Recaps

Farmers can qualify for new or recapped tires, providing they use their trucks or cars to haul produce to and from the market, Dean J. O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Service, said in discussing the tire rationing system.

The farmer who uses his truck exclusively to transport farm products and food to market, and to carry needed home supplies to the farm, is eligible for new tires and tubes, the agricultural leader explained. This includes the transportation of fuel for farm machinery, fertilizers, and feeds to the farm. On the other hand, no new tires will be sold to farmers for trucks that are used to carry products to housewives or other ultimate consumers.

Dean Schaub said that the term "household" includes trucks. Farmers are also eligible to get new tires for their tractors and other farm implements, providing they are not changing from steel wheels to rubber tires.

Turning next to the eligibility of farmers to receive recapped tires, the Extension director said: "Farmers who use their passenger cars to haul produce to and from market because they have no other practical means of transportation, are eligible to have tires recapped or to buy recapped tires. This eligibility also applies to farm workers and technicians who use their passenger cars to travel within and to and from farms essential to the war effort."

Dean Schaub said that farmers who use their trucks for important purposes other than those that make them eligible for new tires, also may qualify for recaps. For instance, he stated a dairy farmer who delivers milk to consumers in an isolated area not having access to other sources of milk might establish eligibility if the local rationing board considers it vital.

Housewives Are Told How To Outwit Clothes Moth

Those winter woollens you are putting away this spring are going to be more valuable than ever next fall, points out Miss Willie K. Hunter, clothing specialist of the N. C. State College Extension Service. War-time needs for wool emphasize the importance of protecting garments and blankets from moth damage," he declared.

Miss Hunter says that others are likely to be in almost any house at any time of the year. So eliminate all breeding places for moths, she advises, and keep all floors and rugs well swept. Never leave wool rugs or old wool clothes lying carelessly around the house. Don't let lint or hair accumulate in floor cracks or under doorboards — or dog or cat hairs remain in the basement. Moths like hair, feathers, and fur as well as wool.

Continuing, the Extension specialist said, before you store wool garments rid them of moths, larvae or moth eggs. Dry cleaning washing with a strong solution of neutral soap, or sunning, airing and brushing combined will kill moths — destroy their eggs and larvae — but clothing away in paper bags, in paper packages, in boxes, or in trunks, chests and tight closets. Seal all paper bundles, bags and boxes so the moths have no access. They won't eat through the paper, but they will crawl through the holes.

For extra protection use naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene, or moth balls which contain one or both of these chemicals. About one pound of flake naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene is a sufficient amount for a small chest, trunk or wooden box.

Frame Garden Halts Vegetable Failures

The answer to frequent failures in the production of green and leafy vegetables for the family table during hot summer months and during drought periods may lie in a frame garden, says H. R. Niswonger, Extension horticulturist of N. C. State College.

The largest number of failures generally occurs in Eastern North Carolina, although there are some such instances in the Piedmont and even in the mountain counties.

Since the recent dry period has delayed the planting of many vegetables and hindered those already planted from coming up, Niswonger said farm families might give serious consideration to the use of a frame garden or supplying vegetables for the family.

A frame resembles a cold frame, except that it is much longer and not as wide. The usual width is four to five feet and the length around 20 feet. For a large family two such gardens might be necessary to insure a sufficient supply.

To have green and leafy vegetables for the family table in July and August, the seed of such kinds as snap and bush lima beans, beets, New Zealand spinach, Swiss chard, mustard, tomatoes and leaf lettuce may be planted in June.

For a fall and early winter supply, vegetables such as beets, carrots, winter spinach, kale, Chinese cabbage, radish and leaf lettuce may be planted in August and September.

The frame should be constructed over an area of good garden soil and the rows run crossways. The distance between the rows varying according to the kinds of vegetables planted.
