Farm Questions

Q.—What is the outlook for the pullet crop in North Carolina?

A.—C. F. Parrish, Extension poultryman, says indications are that 20 to 25 percent more pullets will go into the laying house this cyear than last. Farmers will remember, too, that the number last year was well above the 1940 figure. Two factors have been responsible for this. A desire on the part of the farmer to help out in the war effort by supplying more eggs and higher prices for the eggs. Another factor is a shift from broiler production to egg production.

Q.—Where may forest tree seedlings be obtained?

A.—R. W. Graeber, Extension forester has just announced that certain seedlings may be ordered now from State nurseries in Johnston and Henderson counties for fall spring planting. Orders may be placed with Mr. Graeber at State College, Raleigh.

Q.—Where may I find free information on drying fruits and vegetables?

A.—The Extension Service of State College has just reprinted Extension Circular No. 232 "The Home Drying of Fruits and Vegtables." A free copy may be secured by writing to the Agricultural Editor, State College, Raleigh.

Washington Snapshots
by Louis Preston

(Opinions Expressed in This Column Are Not Necessarily the Views of This Newspaper.)

Official Washington considers the immediate future as the most critical of the war in terms of both military and domestic activities. Armed with almost unlimited war powers strengthened by the Supreme Court's military saboteur trial ruling, the President now stands ready to tackle control of cost elements which include the regulation of prices and wages.

The zero hour of the anti-inflation drive may be at hand. Justice Rosenman, the President's favorite fact-assembler and phrase maker, is on the job and the stabilization plan is reported drawn.

—o—

WPB emerges as the Czar of raw materials in the WPB-Army and Navy Munitions Board realignment. Chairman Nelson will say how much material goes into civilian production. ANMB continues to discharge basic duties outline in the Army-Navy agreement and takes on others requested by WPB. WPB and ANMB are not rival but complementary to each other and the latter reports to the President through Mr. Nelson.

ANMB continues as the primary [illegible] for reconciling and presenting to WPB, Army and Navy requirements. It will continue granting priorities to the military services, and their suppliers subject to WPB directives. WPB material and industry branches will be strengthened by direct military cooperation. Stature of the Industry Advisory Committees, which will be made up of representative industrialists responsible for maximum war production, has been increased.

A "priority accounting" system for the rigid control of priorities, one goal of which is to achieve efficient allocation within an industry is under consideration. Watch for developments.

—o—

With the clarification of WPB functions comes firm line agitation to override the expected Gillette anti-rubber bill veto. The bill would set up a separate agency, independent of Mr. Nelson, and powerful enough to siphon off materials for new construction. The President is planning a move in addition to a veto.

—o—

With Congressional activity subsiding, this being August of a political year, two major domestic fronts remains — taxes and patents. Senate Finance Chairman George is preparing a tax bill for presentation to the Senate early in September.

Senate Patent Committee Chairman Bone, abetted by Thurman Arnold, is striving to lead a reluctant committee to scrap the present patent system. Unable to get any bills reported out, Mr. Bone reopened hearings this week. Arnold set the stage by proposing a new bill which would give the Justice Department supervision over the patent system and permit the Government to revoke a patent if it were used to dominate or restrain trade "unreasonably."

While the Justice Department is reported preparing another bill giving a patent commission power to set price ceilings on patented articles, Chairman Bone is planning to produce another bill which would embody a "complete reorganization of the patent system." Meantime the committee plans to continue open hearings with the Justice Department presenting data on alleged patent abuses.

Bomb 'em with JUNK

Let's blast Japan—and Germany—and Italy—with the chain lightning of destruction that can be built from the scrap in our cellars, attics and garages, on our farms and in our places of business.

Scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials. It will all be used to make tanks, ships, planes and the fighting weapons our boys must have. It is needed at once.

Sell it to a junk dealer—give it to a charity or collection agency—take it yourself to the nearest collection point—or consult the Local Salvage Committee... If you live on a farm, and have found no means of disposing of your junk, get in touch with the County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!
