WHAT WE NEED

- We don't need more material development.
- We need more spiritual development.
- We do not need more intellectual power.
- We need more moral power.
- We do not need more knowledge.
- We need more character.
- We do not need more government.
- We need more culture.
- We do not need more law.
- We need more religion.
- We do not need more of the things that are seen.
- We need more of the things that are unseen.

—Calvin Coolidge

TO EAT AND SLEEP

There is a number of us creep into this world to eat and sleep. And know no reason why we're born. But only to consume the corn, leave the cattle, fish and fish. And leave behind an empty dish. And if our tombstone when we die. Do not laugh to flatter or to lie. There's nothing better can be said than that he's eat up all his bread, drunk up his drink, and gone to bed.

—John Wesley

LET'S GET BEHIND THAT CANNERY

(Citizens of Kings Mountain and farmers of the nearby community should get right behind the project to establish a cannery here. No one will be asked to invest a large amount of capital, but as the name implies will be a community organization to serve the residents of this section.

More vegetables are always produced than can be used at the time so the practical thing to do is to can them so they may be of real use later when snow is on the ground and not a bloom is in sight. From all reports the subscription to stock has been exceedingly good. Let's get up the necessary amount and start The Kings Mountain Community Cannery, Inc., in operation saving funds to feed citizens of the Best Town in the State and their neighboring farmer friends.

WITH THE BOYS IN SERVICE

Dear Mr. Lynch:

Well, I see where dear old K. M. is buying one of the best airplanes in the world. One that has made a name for itself already the famous Flying Fortress (B-17). I guess I could be considered a sort of expert on this type of plane. I have flown and worked on one now in full charge of one, I might say, YOU'VE Flying Fortress for over a year and half. They have and always do the work and return to do it again. That's what counts in this war. We boys that fly with them call them our Babs and trust them to the fullest. You might say we become closely attached to them. It hurts a little to see one go. That's for another.

We here at Lockbourne are training pilots to fly and fight with these 17's. I shouldn't mention the number of pilots being trained here but you won't have to worry about four engines pilots. We work 24 hours around the clock. You folks at home are doing your part by purchase of bonds and taking the rationing in K. M. style. We of the Air Force won't let you down. It's not easy and sometimes dangerous work but we'll get by.

Some day, I hope to say I was the Crew Chief of "The City of Kings Mountain" by the way I have a new B-17P which doesn't have a name as yet. Anyone have any suggestions? Hello to everyone at home and in the Service and if anyone is in Columbus look me up. You folks keep buying and we'll keep 'em flying.

A Former Mountaineer,
 Sgt. Robert C. Crum,
 Lockbourne Army Air Base,
 Columbus, Ohio.

P. S. The Herald is a main event of the week. Keep it coming! Thanks!

HERE AND THERE

Haywood E. Lynch

The Original "Old Mountaineer", writer of letters to former employees of the Margraves Mill now in the armor service is back on the job. I received a copy of his first epistle and his return to civilian life but he had the following note attached: "The enclosed is for enjoyment only, not for publication," so here and there readers will have to join the army to find out what "The Old Mountaineer" is telling the boys.

I met that typical Southern Gentleman, D. J. Keeter of Grover in town Tuesday and he informed me that the craps in his section were looking pretty good but that a nice rate would help them along considerably.

Lt. "Bobby" Baker of the U. S. Coast Guard has thrilling account of catching a 116 pound fish off the coast of Florida. I'll bet J. B. Thomason reads this letter with more than the usual amount of interest because he has been doing quite a bit of Florida fishing for many winters and has never written the Herald of landing any "man" size fish.

I had an opportunity of comparing a "lady-worked garden" and a "man-worked garden" Tuesday afternoon. The Madam and I stopped by to see Bill and Peggy Craig and of course Bill was in his garden so we went around the back to inspect the handiwork of man and nature. There we found Bill with perspiration popping out, bent over a row of lettuce and on the other side we spied Miss Carlyle. Were diligently at work with a hoe. And even at the risk of making my lady readers a little bit jealous, for the sake of truthfulness I'll have to report that the male-worked side was the best. Now I'm not an authority on the quality of soil, and it may be that Bill picked out the richest, most fertile spot for garden. So, if too many ladies jump on me, I'll say it was the and not the manpower.

This was copied from an old card which I found in looking thru some old things. The author or writer is unknown. As a contribution to your Here and There column, I'm sending it on to you for publication.—Calvin Plank.

WHY NOT HAVE COURAGE?

"A great deal of talent is lost in this world for the want of a little courage."

"The common need is for courage to be honest, courage to resist temptation, courage to speak the truth, courage to be what we really are, and not to pretend to be what we are not, courage to live honestly within our means, and not dishonestly upon the means of others."

"The brave man is not he who feels no fear, for that were child, but he whose noble soul subdues his fear, and bravely faces the danger nature threatens from."

BRIEF FACTS

The name "Limey" for the British came from the fact that sailors carried limes with them on long voyages to prevent scurvy. Citrus fruits provide necessary Vitamin C.

Malnutrition, due to slow starvation, sapped the vitality of Germans in the last war and was the principal cause of the collapse of that country.

Government restrictions and simplifications of industrial and residential incandescent lighting fixtures will save 2,500 to 3,000 tons of metal this year.

Savings through War Bond purchases already accomplished are almost sufficient to provide four years of college education for every young man and young woman in America between the ages of 18 and 21.

Four Series E War Savings Bonds, costing a total of $300, will supply the Navy with a wooden life float, capable of sustaining 60 persons.

The nation-wide "carry your burden" campaign brought about a delivery mileage cut of 500,000 miles by a popular price store in Cleveland, Ohio.

Standardization of glass food containers will increase their production by about 50 percent more this year with existing equipment than were produced in 1942.
