Army Conserves Food By Knowing Soldiers' Eating Habits

ATLANTA, Ga.—One way to conserve food at an Army mess hall is to cook no more of it than the soldiers will eat...

A survey of 500 mess halls shows the eating habits of the American fighting man and that he eats less at supper than at breakfast or dinner...

As the survey proved the soldier eats his heartiest meal at noon, that meal was given a value of 100 percent...

Even the weather makes a lot of difference. If it's cold, the soldier eats six percent more than if the weather is moderate...

Mrs. John L. MOHR returned last night from Asheville, N. C., where she attended the three day session of the Farm Security meeting.

run away with it. Following the boat's instructions I let the line run free for about 25 or 30 feet and then pushed the brake lever and gave a hard jerk to sink the hook in his mouth...

A jeep load of coast guards had stopped on the bridge to watch us so when the boat's got the anchor in the fish's mouth we rowed over to the bridge holding the fish against the side of the boat...

That's my fish story and you can believe it if you want to. Anyway, we are going to have fish for dinner — the whole camp. I think I will write and tell Uncle Harry. I hope you had a happy Mothers Day and everybody is well. Love, Bob.

the week end. How then on the back and see—Ma! Hat, Honey Poodle, you and Betty Haves have a little romance up, eh? — Cute, eh? Honey? That is a beautiful bliner you have Christine. Congrats! The Jr. and Sr. classes are planning to go on a picnic Monday for one good time for all, before the exams begin. Mind if we tag a-long?

One never knows, does one — Clarence July? But one CAN find out Ask Frank Smith and Capt Fay or Dr. the way, Margie Barrett and S. Laughter are back on the beam ever since the school dance when Harvey danced "Good-night Sweetheart" with Margie! Speaking of the dance, everyone had a wonderful time, especially the parents! Marion's mother and father were quite the card. Avis and her father could have taken the cup also. Then there was Mr. and Mrs. Tolson who simply had a wonderful time square dancing — back! Don't say square dancing in front of Peggy Morris. She says the boys leaving K. M. certainly will make good soldiers if arm strength counts. Mr. Honeycutt, why didn't you bring Junior? Jimmy Burns and Mary Ann Crouse seem to be having a grand time to — incidentally I'm getting tired and want to sleep—so remember
