

Victory Chapel
Our Soldiers

ATLANTA, Ga. — In a little room on the sixth floor of the Old Postof the building here is located the Victory Chapel, only one of its kind in the United States, where two religious services — one Protestant and one Catholic — are held daily for military and civilian personnel of Headquarter's Fourth Service Command. The room, about 12 by 20 feet, is the abode to the office of Chaplain of state, Ralph W. Rogers, Chaplain General, Service Command, who oversees the use of such a chapel. It is fitted up in regulation Army post Chapel, complete with altar, coverings, vestments and other ecclesiastical equipment. There's even a regulation Chaplain's G.I. field or portable organ. Warrant Officer Homer F. Edwards, Jr., chaplain's assistant, is in charge of all services. Along the walls are hung attractively framed water-color paintings of chaplains at work, such as in the chapel, in the hospital, in the mess hall and even sitting on a prisoner in the guard house. The pictures are the work of Sgt. H. H. Swan, on the staff of the Chicago Tribune before he became a G.I. Joe. The paintings were done while he was stationed at Camp Davis, N.C.

Books, testaments and other literature relating to the soldiers by the Chaplains Corps are at hand for use of those who come daily for a few moments of quietude and spiritual meditation.

Services begin at 8 a.m. on a service conducted by Chaplain Rogers, a Methodist minister, or by a guest speaker from the various religious organizations in Atlanta. The Rev. J. W. McNeely, a Presbyterarian, a Baptist, or deacon of the community, or any other churchman, or from Army Headquarters personnel, gives the service. No service is longer than 15 minutes and those who attend give up their much time from their 45 minute break period for worship. A check has been shown that nearly 10 percent of military and civilian personnel at headquarters attend these services daily.

Each evening at 6:20, which is five minutes after the day's work at quarters' offices ends, a Catholic mass is conducted by Chaplain (Captain) Robert J. Sherry, assistant chaplain, Fourth Service Command. He conducts each mass. Chaplain Sherry is garbed in regulation vestments and kneelers are provided in keeping with the custom of the Catholic service.

When the Victory Chapel first came into being, it was an experiment and members of the congregation stood during the services, but with interest mounting, chairs were obtained to complete the chapel's equipment and the worshippers are growing in numbers to the extent that plans are under way to double the size of the room.

Oxford Orphanage Gives 214 To Service

Some of Its Members Have Already Been Dismissed For Value.

The Oxford Orphanage at Oxford, North Carolina has a record of over one year of service to the children of North Carolina. Over five thousand have been cared for and trained. Its graduates and former pupils are in all walks of life and there is no record of a former pupil having been convicted and sentenced for committing a major crime in North Carolina. It is the oldest Orphanage in the State and receives children other than those of members up of the supporting order.

At the present time less than forty per cent of the population of the Orphanage is of Masonic parentage. The home possesses valuable buildings, grounds and equipment and has had no operating deficit for several years.

The annual budget of the Orphanage calls for an expenditure of $170,000. This provides shelter, clothing and food, recreation, heat, light, books, school supplies, health program staff of trained workers, vocational training in several departments, laundry, repairs and upkeep to grounds, buildings and equipment, and experienced case worker for a family of 300 children.

Superintendent C. K. Proctor announces that liberal gifts are needed this year for operating expenses in order to maintain the home.

The Oxford Orphanage is more than a philanthropy—it is an investment in the lives of North Carolina boys and girls who would not otherwise have a chance. It pays to the State and its citizenship the high dividends in character and trained young people. It is an opportunity to day for North Carolina citizens to express in a substantial way their desire to help others.

The orphanages of the State as the Thanksgiving season as an occasion to appeal to the citizens of the State for so much needed assistance. The Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage announces that the home is open for visitors each day, and hundreds of North Carolina citizens visit this historic spot every year.

Montezuma Elects District Sept.

The Carolina District of the Church of the Nazarene held its annual Assembly at Montezuma, N.C., October 2-4, at which time Rev. A. V. Frederickson of this city was elected District Sept. by an overwhelming majority over Rev. Raymond Browning, who has held that office for the past eight years. Dr. Randy C. Rev. Frederick will have general supervision over all the Churches in North Carolina, and three counties in South Carolina.

Rev. Browning, who has been an outstanding evangelist for many years, will enter the evangelistic field.

Again...

Christmas

Somewhere in France

Can you ever forget "that" Christmas...the candlelight shining through the "estaminet" windows....the caissons breaking on the frozen, rutted roads, their horses steaming in the falling snow....a little voice that said, "Joyeux Noel, soldat Americain"...."Silent Night" alternating with "K-K-K-Katy" from the Y-hut....and over all, the great Star of Christmas shining clear above the fitful lighting that marked our lines up on the Somme.....

That was a Christmas far away—a Christmas "Somewhere in France." A time for memories as lonely boys thought of home.

This year once more our boys will spend Christmastime in the battered towns of France, sleeping in the same billets, perhaps walking the same roads their fathers trod. Like their dads in 1917, like their present-day buddies on forty different battlefronts, their hearts will ache for a tangible reminder of home....a letter, a gift sent with your love. Like their dads before them, they'll be hoping that NEXT Christmas will see them home again.

We know there is no need to tell you to remember your soldier or sailor with a gift for Christmas. This is just to remind you that December 25th is just around the corner for our men overseas. And so we urge you to do your shopping now, choosing each gift with loving care and sending it off to its destination as quickly as possible because it may take a long time to get there.
