WITH THE BOYS IN SERVICE

Dear Mr. Lynch:

Just a line from one of the boys in custody Belgium, and by the paper I see that a lot of the boys are kicking about the different places they are in. Well, I could be glad to swap with any of them, for here in Belgium all it does is rain, and the mud is knee deep all of the time. And I guess the people are still kicking about the gasoline shortage. But we could move over a little in the muddy fox holes, and make room for them, for I think only one hour in them and they would kick no more, and the Belgium money don't seem to amount to much for a chocolate bar or a good American cigarette will buy about anything you want, and I bet H. V. Bell is still kicking. So I will close for today and I would like to say Hello to all of the K. M. boys wherever they are, so I'll go make a mud pie. Yours truly,

Opl Boyce (Jack) Smith
Belgium.

The Director of Distribution in WPA said recently to the national officers that the present food inventory is less than 500 million dollars, about half of one year ago.

In Falls, our neighbor, has a bunch of chickens. Anyone would be proud of his work at the Corn on the first shift. The other morning he drove up to the mill, there sat one of his big feathered hens on the bumper. He must be a careful driver to haul chickens around and not spill them off.

I read in my Gazette where in 1944 in Gaston county when the couple got married two divorces were granted. There's going to be a lot of hell to pay when the boys come home and change uniforms to find her gone with a 4 or 5-F—there will be smoke on the water. Well, my friends I am not a university man. I have been in school all my life but because I did not believe in Darwin's German theories and those other intellectual squabblers, I could not qualify for the university since so I did not attend Harvard, Yale, or Johns Hopkins to acquire the big idea that we sprung from apes and monkeys, still I am in the school of experience and have hardly passed the 2nd grade—no one has to live quite awhile to see my face.

In closing today's session I wish to thank you for listening to my rehearsal.
