Children's Party At Country Club

The children's party given by the Kings Mountain Country Club last Friday afternoon for children under twelve of club members was quite successful.

The children were divided into two groups pre-school and school age. Mrs. Paul Hendricks and Mrs. Tolly Shuford entertained the pre-school age with moving pictures and games.

The school age group were entertained in the ball room with games and other activities by Mrs. J. B. Simpson and Mrs. Aubrey Mauney. Old Santa arrived and gave favors to each child.

Mrs. Henry Neisler assisted in serving cookies cut as Christmas trees, Santys and other Christmas motifs and hot chocolate.

Sixty-five children were present for the gala event.

Mrs. H. P. Neisler Complimented

The home of Mrs. Paul Neisler was gaily decorated in keeping with the Yule season last Thursday afternoon when she entertained in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry Parks Neisler.

Mrs. Neisler greeted guests and introduced them to Mrs. Henry Parks Neisler, Mrs. Hugh Ormand and Miss Mary Virginia Sommers of Charlotte, directed guests into the living room where Mrs. C. E. Neisler and Mrs. H. N. Moss received.

Serving punch in the sun parlor were Misses Susan Moss and Polly Page.

The table was covered with a green satin cloth caught in folds with nandina berries. The large cut glass bowl nestled in a mound of Christmas greens and iridescent balls. A large red poinsetta was used on a table. A beautiful pot of lillies of the valley and the flower arrangements in the windows were a perfect setting for the punch table. Receiving were Mrs. Arthur Hay and Mrs. H. S. Blackmer.

The dining table was overlaid with a handsome metallic cloth. In the center Mr. and Mrs. Santy Claus were standing in a very real looking snow scene. Silver trays of sandwiches in Christmas trees, bells and other yule tide suggestions, silver trays of rum cakes and compotes of mixed nuts made a pleasing effect as you entered. On the mantle was a silver tureen of cut poinsettias and greenery flanked with silver candle holders with red tapers. On the buffet was a silver bowl with holly flanked on either side with Old English candles. Guests were greeted by Mrs. S. O. Davis and Mrs. G. W. Mauney.

The large gaily decorated Christmas tree with the beautifully wrapped gifts under it, the spray of mistletoe extending from the chandelier, containers of other Christmas decorations were used in the entrance hall.

Holly wreaths were used on either side of the mantle in the living room. On the mantle was an arrangement of choir boys and pine needles. Lighted console Christmas trees were used on tables on either side of the open fire place. A perfect manger scene was portrayed on a round table, including a stable with the baby Jesus (with a spot light shining on him), shepherds and their flock of sheep, angels, the wise men and camels. A silver pitcher with a graceful arrangement of red carnations was used on another table.

Several hundred friends of the hostess from Kings Mountain and surrounding towns called between three and six o'clock.

Mrs. J. B. Simpson Duplicate Hostess

The Duplicate Bridge Club met with Mrs. J. B. Simpson at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Traditional Christmas greenery and red berries with red candles were used to create a festive setting for the three tables placed for bridge.

During the progressions coca-colas were served.

A salad and sweet course was served when cards were laid aside.

Mrs. W. K. Mauney, Jr., and Mrs. George Houser, were high score winners.

Two Are Hostesses To Queen Of Clubs

Miss Louann Herndon and Mrs. Johnnie Plonk entertained members of the Queen of Clubs and additional guests at the home of Mrs. J. B. Simpson Wednesday night.

Tables were appointed for refreshments and upon the arrival of the guests, a sweet course was served with coffee. During progressions cakes and cookies were passed.

Miss Peggy Arthur compiled high score for the games with Miss Betty Lynch running a close second. Each were presented attractive gifts.

Mrs. Robert Neill, Misses Betty Lynch, Peggy Arthur, Mildred Mae Goforth and Mary Beth Hord were invited to play with the members.
