

Vets Advised On GI Bill Schooling Rules

Former GI Bill veteran-trainees who returned to active military duty were reminded by the Veterans Administration that they have little time to lose, in case they want to resume their GI studies after discharge.

Under VA regulations, they must resume their training within a reasonable period after their release from active duty. That "reasonable period," VA said, will be based on the circumstances of each veteran's case, and will depend on the kind of training he is taking and a number of other factors.

These regulations apply to veterans affected by the July 25, 1951, cut-off date for entering training, who had previously been in training under the GI Bill, but who were unable to be enrolled at that time because of re-entrance into military service.

Veterans were advised to make their training plans early, rather than wait for the last minute. This way, VA said, they may avoid the disappointment of missing out altogether.

VA also reminded veterans of three requirements that must be met in order to take post-cut-off date training after military service:

1. Conduct and progress of their previous GI Bill courses must have been satisfactory.
2. The amount of training they may get after discharge will be limited by their remaining GI Bill entitlement.
3. Their courses may not extend beyond the wind-up of the GI Bill program on July 25, 1956.

Questions Answered

Q—Several years ago, I obtained a GI home loan, when the top guarantee was $4,000. Now that the guarantee has been raised to $7,500, may I use the difference to get another GI loan to go into business?

A—No. The additional guarantee may be used only in connection with a GI loan.

Q—I was disabled in service in 1949. Would I be eligible for vocational training under the program that recently was set up for Korean disabled veterans?

A—No. One of the requirements of the law is that the disability must have occurred after June 27, 1950, the official date of the outbreak of Korean hostilities.

Varsity Cagers Hit The Road For Pair

Kings Mountain high school's varsity cagers hit the road for two games during the next week, playing at Newton-Conover Friday night and at Shelby on Tuesday night.

The two games will mark the first meeting of the schools on the hardwood this season and the first time the Mountaineers have met Newton-Conover in basketball in several years.

Both Newton-Conover and Shelby have strong boys teams and Coach Don Parker will send his quint out Friday with a record of five wins and two losses in seven Western (AA) contests to date.

Mountaineers Halve Series With Lincolnton

The Mountaineers downed Lincolnton's quint easily here Tuesday night 41 to 33 but Kings Mountain high school's sextet couldn't cope with the Lincolnton girls attack and went down 68 to 28 to give the locals a split in the Western (AA) conference doubleheader.

Jimmy Kimmell, with a big first half spurge, paced Coach Don Parker's quint with 10 points and Charles Painter took over in the second half with 8 points to help run the Mountaineers' record to five wins in seven loop starts.

Kings Mountain led by 27 to 19 at the end of three stanzas but lost the services of three players and Coach A. M. Trolana's quint losers matched the Mountaineers 14 points in the final chapter to prevent a complete rout.

Bill Cornwell, of Lincolnton, had 15 points to take down game scoring honors.

Both teams were very erratic from the floor, Kings Mountain hitting on 11 of 43 shots for 25.6 percent and Lincolnton scoring on 12 of 52 chances for 23.1 percent. Painter hit on 3 of 5 for 60 percent, Kimmell hit on 4 of 10 for 40 and Don Flowers hit on his only shot for a perfect mark.

Kings Mountain wrapped up the game from the foul line, hitting on 19 of 30 charity tosses for 63.3 percent, while Lincolnton could only manage 9 while missing 16 for 36 percent. Officials Gore and Gomedela called a total of 44 personal fouls in the well-officiated contest.

In the opener, Shirley Parker paced Coach Jack Kiser's sextet to its 14th straight conference victory with a 32 point output, hitting on 15 of 21 shots from the floor for 69 percent accuracy. Betty Snipes, with 8 hits and 8 misses for 50 percent, bucketed 22 points.

Shirley Falls paced the scrapping Mountaineers with 18 markers as the Kings Mountain forwards hit on 9 of 15 percent accuracy. Two "B" team graduates, Nora Jane Deese and Geraldine Barnett, aided the cause with five points each.
