Bridge Results Given For Thursday Night's Play

The regular monthly master-point bridge game was played Thursday night at the country club.

North-South winners were James Earle and Chester Ward of Spartanburg, first; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Warlick, second; Mrs. Mart Reid and Mrs. Harry Falls of Gastonia, third; Mrs. Phil Jackson, Gastonia, and Julian O'Conner, Charlotte, fourth.

In the East-West group Mrs. Mrs. C. D. Blanton and Mrs. P. M. Neisler carried off top honors; Mrs. J. A. Postell and Mrs. R. C. Page, Charlotte, second; third place winners were Sam Davis and George Houser; with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Meyerson, Spartanburg, fourth.

Thursday Night Club Met With Mrs. J. C. Bridges

Mrs. J. C. Bridges delightfully entertained members of the Thursday night bridge club and three additional guests, Mrs. Bill Merritt, Mrs. Sam Stallings and Miss Nancy Nickles at her home on Landing Street.

A variety of dahlias and zinnias added a festive note of color.

Bridge was played in progressions with Mrs. Bill Merritt winning high score prize and Mrs. Sam Stallings low score.

When cards were laid aside the hostess served a desert course.

Three Hostesses To Series Of Bridge Parties Friday

Mrs. Glee E. Bridges, Mrs. Drace Peeler and Mrs. Dan Finger entertained with a series of bridge parties at the Country Club Friday. The first party was in the afternoon when guests assembled for bridge at nine tables.

A garden-like atmosphere was created in the club with a profusion of multi-colored cut flowers arranged artistically and appointed at effective intervals through the rooms.

Bridge was played in progressions when cards were laid aside and tallies compared, high score prize was awarded Mrs. Jessie Kiser of Charlotte, low score to Mrs. Packard Elliott of Shelby and the floating prize to Mrs. Claud Hambricht. Miss Peggy Arthur, bride-elect, was remembered with a gift.

The hostesses were assisted in serving a salad and sweet course with a fruit drink.

Friday night guests were invited to make up ten tables of bridge, when tallies were added, Miss Patty Neisler proved to be the high scorer and received a prize. Mrs. John Rudisell received low score prize while Mrs. J. E. Herndon received the floating award.

The hostesses presented Miss Patty Neisler and Miss Betty Falls, brides-elect, with gifts.

A congealed salad and sweet course was served with a drink.

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS

TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: How can I protect my corn crop from insect losses?

ANSWER: George D. Jones, in charge of entomology extension for State College, says that corn should be shelled and treated with a fumigant in the same manner, as wheat or other small grains.

Insects may cause serious damage to stored oats, wheat or other small grains, and the farmer should be particularly careful not to further deplete his corn crop, already shortened by the drought.

"Old" corn on the farm is likely to be heavily infested with weevils and other insect pests. Bin areas for the shelled corn should be made tight, cleaned thoroughly and sprayed with DDT or methoxychlor prior to fumigation.

Two or three widely-used fumigants which are non-inflammable and not-explosive are recommended. These have largely replaced the explosive carbon disulphide.

Treatment will cost about two to three cents per bushel; one or two treatments should give protection until next spring or summer, according to Jones.

Mrs. W. B. Shutt, Mrs. C. T. Carpenter, Jr., and Mrs. L. P. Stowe were invited to join members of the Twin-Table bridge club Thursday night, with Mrs. O. W. Myers as hostess.

A variety of cut summer flowers were used in decorating the lovely home.

Following the second progression of bridge, tables were set and chicken salad, cheese biscuits, sandwiches, peach pickles and a sweet course was served with lime punch.

Mrs. Claude Hambricht won high score for members, Mrs. C. T. Carpenter, Jr., receiving visitor's high.

Mrs. C. S. Jones Entertains Miss Patty Neisler At Club

Mrs. Craig Jones entertained members of the Round Dozen Bridge club and visitors to make up seven tables Thursday afternoon at the Cleveland Country club, taking the occasion to honor Miss Patty Neisler, bride-elect of October.

Miss Neisler chose for the party a beautiful chartreuse cotton party frock spun with a gold thread, featuring a shawl collar. Her milan straw hat was of brown and her additional accessories were also of brown.

Mixed cut summer flowers including dahlias, zinnias, and roses were artistically arranged in the party room and the tables appointed for refreshments held centerpieces of colorful verbenas in ornamental holders. The bride-elect's table held an all white arrangement.

A delightful dessert course with punch was served at the beginning of the party and after bridge the hostess awarded prizes to the visitors scoring high, second high and low and to high and second high scorers among club members.

Mrs. Jones presented Miss Neisler with her wedding gift.

A number of out-of-town guests from Kings Mountain were present for the party.

Dates Set For Holly Shelter Deer Hunts

Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, today announced the dates for the annual organized deer hunts on the Holly Shelter Wildlife Management Area in Pender County.

The area will be opened on a series of alternate days on October 15, 17, 21, 23, 25, 28, and 30; November 2, 4, 6, and 18; 20, 22, 25, 27, and 29. Special permits to hunt on the area will be available at area headquarters and hunters wishing to hunt on the area may obtain the $2.00 permits on the day they desire to hunt.

Hunting will be permitted in parties of five or less, and parties will be distributed over the area by the refuge manager as a safety precaution to insure a uniform kill throughout the area. Shooting hours will be from 7:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M. with one male deer (with visible antlers) or one bear per person allowed in the bag. Only shotguns with buckshot or slugs may be used, and hunters may take wildcats but no other game incidental to the hunts.
