Bridal Luncheon Given By Mrs. John Cheshire

Mrs. John Cheshire entertained with a handsomely appointed bridal luncheon Saturday at 12 o'clock complimenting Miss Betty Cash whose marriage to Charles Andy McCarter was to take place in the evening.

An exquisite arrangement of pink and white flowers and graceful greenery centered the table, the same motif being carried out throughout the home.

A four course luncheon was served the guests including bridal attendants, Mrs. Cash and Mrs. McCarter.

The honoree was very chic in a black and white dress with organza overskirt and a corsage of pink and white asters, gift of the hostess.

Miss Cash took this occasion to present strands of pearls to her bridesmaids.

Pretty Coca Cola Party Honors Three Brides-Elect

Misses Ann Mayes and Ramona Allen were hostesses Thursday morning at a beautiful informal Coca Cola party complimenting Miss Betty Cash, bride-elect of the week, Misses Doris Jolly and Betty Falls, brides-elect.

The party was held on the spacious Mayes lawn, the lovely big oak trees with other trees and shrubbery and the beds of blooming flowers made a perfect setting for the affair. The white lawn chairs and tables, the unique flower arrangements on the tables and potted plants around the bird bath, the delightful breeze made such a picturesque setting guests were reluctant to leave.

Callers were greeted by Misses Mayes and Allen and presented to the receiving line composed of the honorees, and Miss Betty J. Lingley, of Winston-Salem, house guest of Miss Betty Cash.

The refreshment table with the green burlap cloth, the large watermelon shell filled with bananas peaches, lemons, grapes, pears, apples and the variegated leaves, the large rattan tray of fancy party cakes, the unusual shaped trays of honduras mahogany filled with assorted dainty tidbits, cheese straws, nutty fingers, petit sandwiches, raisin squares and the large wooden bowl of potato chips and party pickles was a picture of summer symphony.

A large wheelbarrow decorated with magnolia leaves and filled with crushed ice with coca cola bottles peeping out added a refreshing touch.

Those giving out the china plates in green and white and serving the drinks were Misses Sally Leigh, Ann Whisnant of Gastonia, Gail Allen, Evelyn Cline, Barbara Gault and Susanne Arrowood.

The hostess presented the hon-
